Senate Debates Rights Bill Jury Trial Question

TESTIFIES — Dr. Ian J. MacDonald, clinical professor of surgery at the University of Southern California Medical School, poses in Washington after testifying before a House Government Operations subcommittee yesterday. The doctor told the committee, studying effects of smoking, that "the causation of lung cancer is much more complicated than the over-simplified thesis that it is due to cigaret smoking."

Amendments Are Opposed By Knowland

WASHINGTON, July 25 (P)—The Senate plunged into debate today on the biggest remaining issue in the civil rights bill—whether to guarantee jury trials in certain contempt cases involving alleged violations of voting rights.

Sens. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) and Kefauver (D-Tenn.) both argued for an amendment to provide such trials for persons charged with criminal contempt of court for violating voting rights injunctions.

A jury trial amendment also was supported by Senate Majority Leader, Johnson (D-Tex.), who said that while courts must have power to enforce their orders people accused of crimes "should have the opportunity to make their case before a jury of their peers."

Knowland Opposes

But Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) contended a jury trial amendment would "greatly weaken the effectiveness" of the bill. Knowland, in addition to being the GOP leader, heads a loose coalition of Republicans and Northern Democrats working for civil rights legislation.

One argument used by opponents of the jury trial amendment is that Southern white juries wouldn't convict when Negro voting rights were involved.

Both O'Mahoney and Kefauver have introduced similar jury trial amendments.

Kefauver told the Senate he draws a clear distinction between civil and criminal contempt, with the right to trial by jury provided only in the latter type of case.

Two Citation Methods

He said that if a voting registrar, for example, should ignore a court's order the judge would have no alternative except to cite him for contempt. But he said the judge could do it in one of two different ways.

If the judge wanted to punish the registrar for his offense, Kefauver went on, he would have to permit a jury trial. But if he merely wanted to secure compliance with his order, he could jail the registrar without a jury trial until the official complied.

Supporters of the legislation, Knowland said, will now concentrate on preserving its right-to-vote section.

Pittsburgh Man Kills Wife, Self In Auto Blast

PITTSBURGH, July 25 (P)—A 29-year-old dynamite blaster touched off a powerful bomb as he sat talking with his estranged wife tonight in a car parked on a busy street.

The shattering blast killed both the man and woman, critically wounded a child walking past the car and injured at least nine other passersby.

"It's a clear case of murder and suicide," said Asst. Police Supt. Lawrence Maloney. He identified the dead as Arthur DePew and his wife, Elaine, 18.

The blast occurred in front of a restaurant on E. Ohio St. on the North Side section which is across the Allegheny River about one mile from downtown Pittsburgh.

Girl's Life Saved By Priest, Rosary

NEW YORK, July 25 (P)—A Roman Catholic priest used a string of rosary beads today to save the life of a 20-year-old girl teetering on the roof of a six-story Bronx building.

The girl, Juanita Marrero, a native of Puerto Rico, recently suffered a nervous breakdown. She was spotted on the edge of the building by a Sanitation Department employee.

Police were unable to coax her away from her precarious perch. While they spread a suicide net beneath her, the Rev. Ignacio Zulueta was summoned from the nearby church of St. Anthony of Padua.

Speaking in Spanish, the priest talked for half an hour to the distraught girl. Finally, she accepted a handkerchief from him to wipe her brow.

Father Zulueta then offered the girl the rosary. As she reached for it, he grabbed her and dragged her struggling to safety.

TUNISIA PRESIDENT—Tunisia's Premier Habib Bourguiba (above) yesterday became that country's president as the constituent assembly ousted the ruling Bey and proclaimed the former French protectorate a republic. (AP Photofax)

Tunisia Joins Republic Ranks As Bey Deposed

TUNIS, July 25 (P)—Tunisia turned from a monarchy into a republic today and chose pro-American Premier Habib Bourguiba, a former prisoner of the French, as its first president.

Bourguiba deposed and succeeded the unpopular, 75-year-old Bey Sidi Mohamed Al-Amin, as chief of state and thus became the head of both state and of government. As such the job is equivalent to the presidency in the United States.

The old Bey, a remote figure residing among the ruins of ancient Carthage, had been a figurehead of the French in their latter years of colonial rule here and then a certain candidate for discord on the risen tide of African nationalism.

The calmly undertaken revolutionary change came—apparently by coincidence—on the eve of the fifth anniversary of King Farouk's exile from Egypt. There is little in common between Egypt's President Nasser and Tunisia's Western-looking President Bourguiba beyond North African background and Arabic speech.

On the other side of Tunisia, Morocco got independence from the French about the same time the Tunisians won their independence, but the monarchy of Sultan Mohammed V seems solidly entrenched at Rabat with no apparent thought of a republic. Both Tunisia and Morocco support independence for Algeria from France.

Tunisia is familiar to Americans as the site of ancient Carthage, as a 19th century stronghold of the Barbary pirates, and as the World War II setting of liberation by combined American soldiers and the British 8th Army. The change in form of government was effected by the Constituent Assembly.

Bourguiba won grudging freedom from the French protectorate less than two years ago through his Neo-Destour—Independence—Party.

Today he proclaimed the ousting of the Bey in the former throne room of El Bardo Palace, beneath the glaring gaze of huge oil paintings of the Bey's Husseinite family. It had ruled for 250 years.

Today's Chuckle

He was a bit shy, and when she threw her arms around him and kissed him for bringing her a bouquet of roses he arose and started to leave. "I'm sorry I offended you," she said.

"Oh, I'm not offended," he said. "I'm going for more roses."

Miss Maryland Runnerup Sues Dethroned Miss U.S.

BALTIMORE, July 25 (P)—Mary Leona Gage Ennis, the dethroned Miss United States, was sued today by the girl who ran second to her in the Miss Maryland contest.

Named co-defendant in the $30,000 suit by Miss Mary Callie Hill was the sponsor of the Miss Maryland contest, the Walters Academy and Fashion Guild Inc.

Miss Hill accused Mrs. Ennis and the academy of harpooning her big chance to cash in on her blonde beauty—although her charge was couched in legal terminology.

The Miss Maryland contest was a stepping-stone to the Miss Universe contest last week in Long Beach, Calif.

The raven-haired Mrs. Ennis, posing as a Miss, won the contest. In Long Beach, she also won the Miss United States title. She was still in the running for Miss Universe when her marriage to an Air Force sergeant leaked out.

Mrs. Ennis was de-crowned and sent home, but her masquerade won her several financially attractive movie, television and night club offers.

Miss Hill said at the time, "I think it was downright mean of that woman to cheat me of the big chance. I have no Hollywood tryouts or night club offers."

Her suit, filed in Superior Court, said contest rules required contestants to be single.

Passenger With $125,000 Insurance Blown Out Plane

Airliner, Hole Ripped In Side, Lands Safely

Decompression Blast Is Blamed

LOS ANGELES, July 25 (P)—A passenger who had insured his life for $125,000 was blown out of an airliner today in a weird mystery 10,000 feet above the Southern California desert.

The twin-engine Western Airline Convair made a safe landing with a 28-square-foot hole in its side. Twelve other passengers and three crew members were unhurt.

Blown from the plane was 52-year-old S. F. Binstock, a retired North Hollywood jeweler who flew to Las Vegas, Nev., early last night and then took an early morning return flight. His body had not been found hours after he plunged from the plane.

Investigators first believed an explosive had ripped the hole in the airliner's fuselage but absence of powder marks plus the discovery of what appeared to be four bullet holes produced an even more bizarre possibility.

There was speculation that the holes might have been the cause of an explosive decompression which blew out the section of fuselage but Western Airlines Vice President D. T. Renta said, "Apparently there must have been an explosion."

He expressed the opinion that the four holes were not due to bullets but occurred in some other manner "when the metal skin of the plane was pierced or pulled out."

The plane took off from Las Vegas at 2:50 a.m. The explosion occurred at 3:37 a.m.

Pilot Milton Shirk of Los Angeles radioed that he had "an emergency" then reported: "The right rear side of the aircraft has been blown out. I'm going to George Air Force Base."

Pilot Shirk said upon arrival here that he heard a bang when the fuselage gave way and "I thought somebody ran into me."

He sent copilot Seth Oberg of Los Angeles back to look at the damage, then decided to land as quickly as possible. Shirk said he had been cruising at about 210 miles an hour and decreased his speed slightly as a safety measure. He said the maneuverability of the plane was not affected.

A. J. Klum, chairman of the board of Mercury International Insurance Underwriters, said Binstock purchased two $62,500 round-trip insurance policies at a counter at Lockheed Airport in Burbank.

The policies named Binstock's wife, Eva R., as beneficiary. One of the policies specified that payment would not be made in the event of suicide but the other policy did not mention suicide, Klum said.

Troop Carrier Reported Down Lands Safely

EL PASO, Tex., July 25 (P)—The Air Force tonight sent out—then recalled—search parties on the basis of reports that a big C130 troop transport had crashed 20 miles north of here.

Air Force spokesmen said the big craft was reported to have landed safely at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base at Tucson, Ariz., about 250 air miles west of El Paso.

Davis-Monthan said the C130 capable of carrying 92 infantrymen and a crew of four, came in with two of its four turboprop engines feathered.

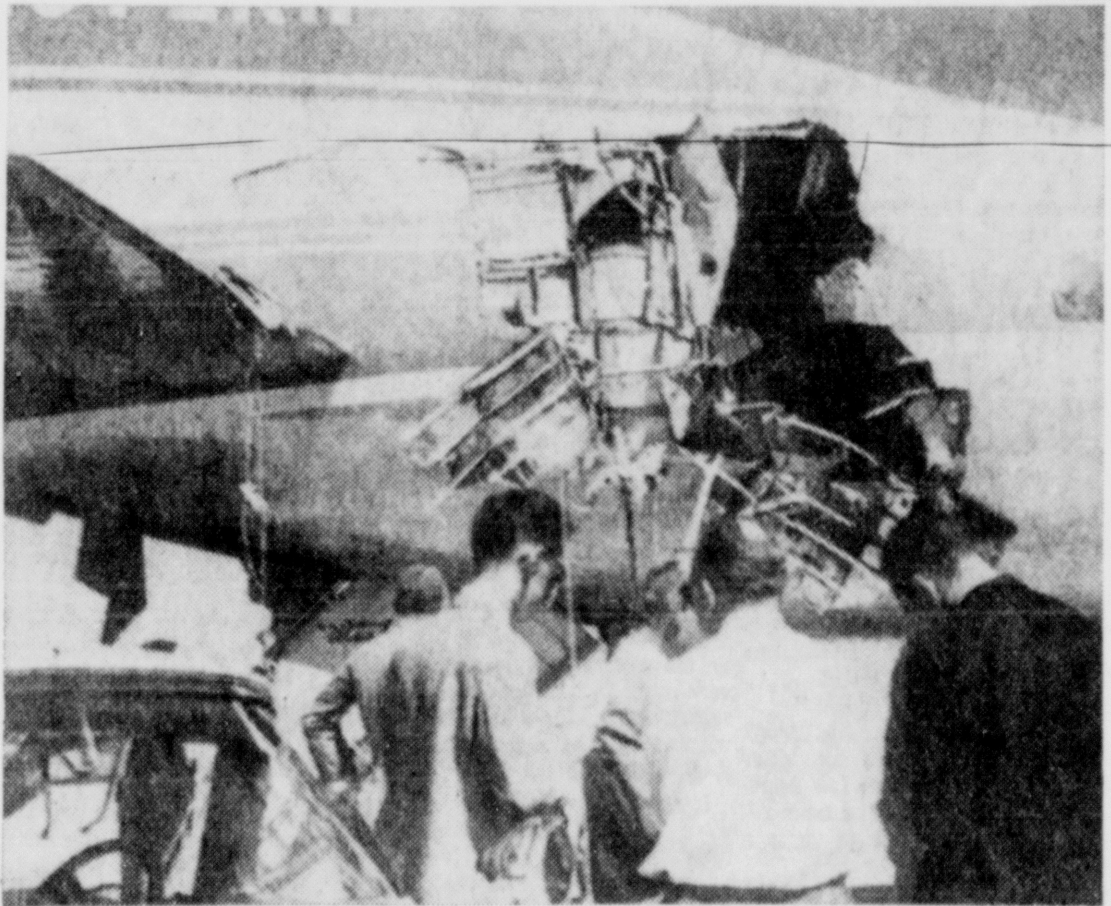

It had earlier had engine trouble over El Paso and narrowly avoided striking a power station plant here.

Eyewitnesses to the plane's troubles told the Air Force it appeared to have crashed in rugged sandy country inside the New Mexico line about 20 miles north of this border city.

The plane had startled El Paso residents around 5:30 p.m. when it swooped low over the city.

At that time it reported engine trouble.

Another message was reportedly flashed to the control tower at Biggs Air Force Base here at about 5:45 p.m. which mentioned "power regained."

Weird Mystery Of Skylanes

Newsman interview Western Airlines officials at George Air Force Base, Calif., in front of plane displaying hole mysteriously ripped in side yesterday. A passenger who had insured his life for $125,000 was blown out of the airliner. Investigators found four holes which could have been made by bullets near the ripped out portion of the fuselage. They believe these holes so weakened the side of the plane that the force of air in the pressurized cabin tore open the hole.

U.S. Proposes Curbs On Outer Space Missiles

LONDON, July 25 (P)—The United States proposed today that during the first stage of disarmament a scientific committee should work out a way for devoting all outer space missile research to peaceful purposes.

Harold E. Stassen told the United Nations Disarmament subcommittee Russia and the West should join forces to find a way of controlling all objects sent into outer space. He said the first stage of any disarmament treaty should include a firm commitment by all signatory nations that such a committee would be created.

The actual banning of such research, however, would not come until the second stage of disarmament—or until after scientists had agreed on a system of enforcement.

Today's proposal appeared to make a much more cautious approach, if not an outright change in attitude, on the part of the United States toward the missile problem.

Stassen proposed on April 25, in the subcommittee's first round of discussions that all research on Inter-Continental Ballistic Missiles actually be halted in the first stage of disarmament.

Subsequently, however, missiles and other phases of disarmament were discussed in Washington on May 25 in a top-level meeting which led to a new U.S. plan for partial disarmament. In addition, missiles, like aerial inspection, have been the subject of lengthy private consultations between the United States and other Western nations.

Ike Requests Funds For New D.C. Airport

WASHINGTON, July 25 (P)—The White House finally decided today Washington should have a second airport and asked Congress for $5 million dollars to build one.

President Eisenhower asked this sum as a supplemental appropriation to build an airport near Burke, Va., about 20 miles from downtown Washington.

The question of whether a new airport was needed, and where it should be located, has been kicking around among various agencies for years.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the final decision in favor of the Virginia site was made on the basis of studies by the Commerce Department and other "responsible agencies."

British Navy Ranks Cut

LONDON, July 25 (P)—The British navy is following the army in cutting its ranks. Under a plan announced today, the total strength of the navy will be cut from 120,000 to between 90,000 and 100,000 by 1962. By then, conscription will have ended.

UTW Officials Tell Of Financial Deals

WASHINGTON, July 25 (P)—Two top officials of the United Textile Workers testified today they borrowed thousands of dollars in 1952 on notes guaranteed by officers of firms with which their union held labor contracts.

UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary - Treasurer Lloyd Klenert told the story to the Senate Rackets Committee in explaining how they raised money to repay $57,000 in union funds which they used in buying new homes for themselves.

Valente said he regarded the home-buying money as "loans," although it was listed on union books as having been spent for organizational purposes.

He said no one else in the union knew at that time that he and Klenert had chosen to use the money as a device to "hide away" cash so that possible dissident UTW factions would not know how much ready cash was available. He said he considered money invested in the houses was the same as ready cash.

Valente and Klenert testified they raised more than $100,000 from banks, individuals and companies at the time they were trying to repay the $57,000.

Both said they had anticipated that they might have to put up some of the surplus to help the UTW in possible financial emergencies.

But committee counsel Robert Kennedy said: "The union didn't need it—it had just got a $200,000 loan."

Klenert, under questioning, acknowledged the union had received the loan, which Kennedy said was negotiated through John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers.

In contrast with the smooth, self-confident manner of his other appearances, Klenert gave much of his testimony today with head bowed and features flushed. Valente, making his first appearance as a witness, showed a little more composure, although he seemed to squirm at times under questioning.

Five Guilty, Four Freed In Turnpike Fraud Case

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 25 (P)—Five men accused of conspiring to defraud the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission of 19½ million dollars were found guilty tonight.

The Dauphin County jury acquitted four other defendants.

Thomas J. Evans, Republican chairman of the commission at the time it entered into a multi-million-dollar contract with his nephew's firm, was among those convicted. So, too, was James F. Torrance, a not other Republican member of the commission, who is now under suspension.

The seven men and five women jurors deliberated 3 hours and 43 minutes before returning a verdict. The trial was in its 42nd day. The case went to the jury at 4:40 p.m. EDT.

Guilty verdicts also were returned against Charles W. Stickler Jr., nephew of Evans and president of the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co. of Reading; Clayton A. Landside, former vice president and general manager of Manu-Mine, and Paul J. McNeill, former chief financial officer for the commission.

Acquitted were E. J. Donnelly and G. J. Hudert of J. E. Greiner Co., a Baltimore engineering firm that acted as consultants to the turnpike commission; Theodore S. Paul, former head of the commission's legal bureau, and John D. Paul (no relation), former assistant chief construction engineer for the commission.

The case burst upon the state last fall when Gov. George M. Leader, a Democrat, called for an investigation of what he termed "the greatest public swindle of all time."

SEAVIEW, Wash., July 25 (P)—A motorist who crouched trapped in his overturned car in a roadside pond for 10 hours, was recovering today in a hospital here.

During his ordeal he had only a four-inch air space between the upturned floor of his car and the water level.

William Golden, 45, Portland taxi driver, said his experience was all the more harrowing because as he crouched in the water-filled car, he had with him the constant memory of the drowning of his son seven years ago.

Golden was driving toward the coast on a clam-digging trip when he apparently dozed at the east end of the Fort Columbia tunnel.

The car plunged down a 10-foot embankment and came to rest in the roadside pond.

This was at 10:15 p.m. Golden estimated later because his watch stopped then. All through the night he kept his face pressed onto the thin air space.

Truck driver David Auld of Astoria finally spotted Golden's overturned car. He called police and a wrecker soon had the car and Golden—then near collapse—out of the water.

Destruction Pattern Same As Last Year

Antisegregation Amendment Sets Up Defeat, 208-203

WASHINGTON, July 25 (P)—The 1½-billion-dollar school aid bill, which had an "acceptable" label from the White House, was killed in the House today.

This was the second year in a row that the House has rejected an aid bill, and the pattern of destruction was the same—adoption of an antisegregation amendment and then rejection of the whole thing.

The final vote was closer this year, however—208-203 as compared to 224-194 last year.

And there was some last minute interest in an argument over whether President Eisenhower really cared very much whether the bill passed or not.

After it was all over, press secretary James C. Hagerty said the White House would have no comment.

Party Lines Crossed

On the final test, 111 Republicans—including Rep. Halleck of Indiana, the assistant GOP floor leader—and 97 Democrats voted to kill the bill. Against killing it were 125 Democrats and 77 Republicans.

The antisegregation amendment was offered by Rep. Wainwright (R-NY), over administration opposition. Eisenhower had asked that what he called the separate problem of racial integration not be thrown into the school aid controversy.

But Wainwright was unmoved. He proposed that no federal funds be used to help schools in districts which do not comply with the Supreme Court's ruling against segregation.

"It is the rankest hypocrisy," Wainwright told the House, "to vote civil rights with one hand and put up the other the next day to take these precious rights away."

Negro Opposed Amendment
On the other hand, Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.), a foremost school aid backer, said adoption of the Wainwright amendment "will be a stigma upon the colored race. They will be blamed for defeating the bill."

Rep. Diggs (D-Mich.), a Negro, said he opposed the amendment with reluctance, but was convinced other "remedies" were available. Rep. Roosevelt (D-Calif.) said the amendment was introduced "merely for the defeat of the measure."

The Wainwright amendment was adopted on a standing vote of 136 - 105. The House thereupon voted 153-126, again on a standing vote, to kill the whole bill.

This standing vote had only tentative status, and Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) moved for a roll call vote to strike out the enacting clause of the bill, thus killing it finally.

Dio Guilty

NEW YORK, July 25 (P)—An all-male jury tonight found racketeer Johnny Dio guilty of conspiring to get money from employers to insure labor peace.

After a total of 23 hours deliberation the jury found Dio, whose full name is Dioguardi, guilty on one degree of conspiracy and guilty on another count of aiding and abetting in soliciting $30,000 from two electroplating firms.

Jury foreman Leo A. Kass announced no verdict, however, on two other counts, both for bribery.

Dio's codefendants, Max Chester, former financial secretary of a Retail Clerks Union local, and Samuel Goldstein, president of a Teamsters local, both were found guilty, but in varying degrees.

Chester was found guilty on all four counts of the indictment, Goldstein on three.

Small Atom Device Fired From Balloon

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev., July 25 (P)—The 10th atomic device of the summer test series, a smallish one, was fired this morning from a balloon 500 feet up.

The detonation, a closed shot from which newsmen were barred at Yucca Flat test Center, was viewed from Angel's Peak, 35 miles distant, as a double mushroom cloud after a brilliant flash that shattered the predawn stillness. The mushroom boiled quickly into the sky and soon became a part of cumulus clouds nearby.

No shock was felt at Angel's Peak. An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said radioactive fallout was significant only at the test site and the bombing range adjacent to it.

Motive Still Mystery In Attempt To Kill Huntington Mayor

Willis Receives Another Threatening Call

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 25 (AP)—The would-be assassin who shot at Mayor Eugene Willis last night apparently isn't giving up. Police confirmed today that the popular 42-year-old Republican received another threatening call to-day.

Neither the police nor Willis have thrown any light on a motive.

Willis said he has received telephone calls threatening his life for the past six weeks. He didn't make the contents of the calls public, but last Friday he applied for and received permission to carry a gun.

Last night, as he was returning home about 10:30 p.m. from a meeting at City Hall, he noticed a car following him. He eased the gun out of its holster and laid it beside him on the seat.

As he turned into his driveway, he said, a shot from the trailing car—by now almost on him—entered the open window beside him, skinned by his head and drilled through the closed window on the right.

He told police he fired twice at the car speeding away in movie-land fashion—once through his windshield and once as he leaped out of the car. He could not tell if his shots were effective.

He said he liked to think the attempt on his life did not come from vice elements in the city. At least two clubs have been forced

RAF Rips Oman Rebel Fort, Says No Loss Of Life

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—The British said tonight RAF Venom fighters blasted the rebel fort of Izki in Muscat and Oman with cannon and rocket fire but claimed there was no loss of life. The rebels had been forewarned and presumably had fled before the attack, they said.

The announcement by the Air Ministry in the House of Commons set off rumblings of a parliamentary row.

The Laborite foreign affairs spokesman, Aneurin Bevan, said Britain's declared intention of helping the Sultan as "a staunch friend" was no more than "a statement of sentimentality." The Sultan of Muscat and Oman is allied with the British by treaty.

Bevan demanded a full statement by Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd next week on the grounds that reasons other than those of official mention lay behind the British intervention.

Lloyd, amid Conservative party cheers, replied that British influence and interests would suffer if the country ignored the problems of its friends.

Britain announced Monday it had agreed to help the Sultan crush a revolt led by the deposed imam—religious leader—in the Arab sultanate.

Billy Graham Forgives Thief

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham today forgave a man accused of stealing $500 in offerings by posing as an usher at Graham's Yankee Stadium crusade rally.

But he failed to persuade the man that the experience could be "a stepping stone to a new life."

The evangelist arrived at Bronx County Courthouse soon after Louis Silver, 46, former Los Angeles liquor salesman, had been released in $2,500 bail pending a hearing.

Graham greeted Silver, and the latter said: "I didn't do anything wrong."

"I forgive you," said Graham. "I want to invite you to our rally. This experience ought to drive you toward God."

Silver: "I'm in enough trouble already and my wife is sick."

Graham: "We would like to help you get a job."

Silver: "I don't want any charity."

Graham: "What you need is to be brought closer toward God. God loves you and is willing to help you. I have forgiven you already. Let this experience be a stepping stone to a new life. Christ can help you."

Silver, showing increasing signs of irritation, strode from the building. Graham went in to talk with Judge Eugene G. Schulz, who had set the bail.

Ike Declares U. S. Might Get Tips From Boy Nation

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—President Eisenhower told a group of teen-age "legislators" today the federal government might get some useful tips from them on how the country should be run.

Eisenhower spoke in the White House rose garden to the 96 delegates to the American Legion-sponsored Boys Nation, which organizes a legislative body along congressional lines during its annual week-long Washington stay.

"I sometimes think," the President said, "I would like to see the laws and resolutions you pass and some of your debates and to see whether it wouldn't help some of us oldsters a little bit."

"We can certainly use some help with some of the problems we have these days."

A desk set composed of the flags of the United States, of Eisenhower's home State of Kansas and of the American Legion was presented to the President by Thomas Peake, 17, of Norton, Va., new president of Boys Nation. The group's new vice president, Kenneth Goudreau, 16, of Cleveland, Ohio, gave the chief executive a book of barbecue recipes obtained from the governors of 46 states.

"I need that," said the President, an amateur chef, with a laugh.

Pittsburgh TV Logjam Broken

PITTSBURGH, July 25 (INS)—Pittsburgh's television logjam was broken today with approval of a third TV outlet in the city which until now has had only one commercial station in operation.

The Federal Communications Commission approved the merger of TV applications of WCAE Inc., a subsidiary of the Hearst Publishing Company, and Television City, Inc., which is affiliated with radio station KQV. Three other applicants previously withdrew.

The two groups will own 50 per cent of the stock each in the new station, which was assigned Channel 4.

Charles McCabe, chairman of the Hearst Radio committee who carried on merger negotiations for WCAE, announced that the new TV station will be operated under Hearst management.

He said construction of the station would begin without delay.

Radio station WCAE will continue to be solely owned by WCAE Inc.

But the present owners of radio station KQV will sell the station to conform with FCC rules as to dual ownership.

Allen Admits Cop Slaying Story "Lie"

OAKLAND, Calif., July 25 (AP)—Police Capt. Anthony Bolger announced today that William T. Allen, 25, admitted his story of slaying two policemen at El Segundo, Calif., was "a lie to escape prosecution by those tough Chicago cops."

Allen, a fugitive from an Illinois mental institution, is wanted in Chicago and St. Louis in connection with tavern holdups.

Bolger said Allen admitted the slaying confession hoax after being questioned six hours by Southern California officers.

Bar Group Asks Action To Offset Court Decisions

LONDON, July 25 (AP)—The American Bar Assn.'s Committee on communism called today for legislation to "overcome the effect" of recent U. S. Supreme Court decisions. It said mankind's first law, "the right of self-preservation," is involved in the struggle against subversion.

The association's house of delegates applauded vigorously as it heard the chairman, former Democratic senator Herbert R. O'Connor of Maryland, deliver the committee's warning to the courts against overzealous protection of "theoretical individual rights."

No action was taken on the committee's recommendations, but it was instructed to continue its studies.

U. S. Chief Justice Earl Warren, who is attending the convention, was not present as O'Connor delivered the report. Warren and Justice John M. Harlan sat as observers today on the bench of the British Court of Appeals.

The committee put before the 3,000 delegates attending the London session of the association's 80th annual convention recommendations for legislation which would accomplish these things:

1. Safeguard the confidential nature of FBI files.
2. Give congressional committees the same freedom to investigate communism as they have always had in investigating businessmen and labor leaders.
3. Sanction the right of the federal government to discharge security risks even if they hold "nonsensitive" posts.
4. Give the Department of Justice the right to question aliens awaiting deportation about any

New Look In Dollars

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—The government today started printing one-dollar bills carrying the signature of Robert B. Anderson and the inscription "In God We Trust."

Anderson becomes secretary of the Treasury Monday, on the resignation of George M. Humphrey. The new inscription, long used on coins, was decreed for paper money by Congress this month.

Alexander the Great was born in Europe, died in Asia and was buried in Africa.

Disheveled Woman Rescued From Potomac At Great Falls

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—A disheveled woman was rescued from the Potomac River at Great Falls today.

She was taken from some rocks at a point, several miles upstream from Washington, where a boy drowned and a canoeist narrowly escaped death earlier this month.

Police said the woman, who appeared to be about 40, had jumped or fallen into the river, was carried through an area of turbulent rapids, dropped 20 feet over the falls, and then saved herself by grasping rock.

Fairfax County (Va.) police questioned the woman after she was brought to the Virginia shore by the McLean and Great Falls (Va.) fire departments. Her name was not disclosed.

James Watt, superintendent of Great Falls Park, said a visitor, Mrs. Stephen Smarr of Falls Church, Va., was scanning the falls with a telescope when she saw the woman, her hair and clothing disarrayed, sitting on the rocks near the Virginia shore.

Watt grabbed a megaphone and called to the woman.

"I asked her what happened," Watt related. "She said she fell in. Then I told her we were getting a ladder. And she said: 'I left a note in the car.'"

Watts said he found a note on the front seat of a green sedan parked nearby. He said the note was addressed to a man, and read:

"It is an incurable illness for me. In the long run I think it means less suffering for everyone. My true spirit is with you all."

She was taken to Fairfax police headquarters.

Maryland Urged To Hire Rain-Maker

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Drought-stricken Maryland was urged today to try to buy some rain for $57,000.

An emergency weather committee recommended that Maryland hire a rain-making organization on a three-month experimental basis.

Dr. Paul E. Nystrom, chief of the University of Maryland's extension service, said a Denver rain-making firm could begin cloud-seeding 24 hours after the Board of Public Works gave the go ahead.

The rain-making program would be an experimental one—to see if Krick Associates can knock some rain out of the reluctant clouds.

The emergency weather-modification committee headed by Dr. Nystrom has recommended that the Board of Public Works hire the Denver firm.

The main aim would be to try to alleviate the severe drought on the Eastern Shore and in Southern Maryland.

Dr. Nystrom said that the Krick organization does not claim it can produce rain but that if there are any clouds it can increase precipitation by seeding them.

One method is to dump silver iodide in the clouds from an airplane.

Dr. Nystrom said the emergency committee has asked that a special meeting of the Board of Public Works be called to consider the rain-making proposal.

Shell Income Rises

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Shell Oil Co. reported today for six months ended June 30 net income of $75,320,849, equal to $2.49 a share compared with $69,440,912, or $2.29 a share in the first half of 1956. Net for the second quarter net was $33,871,344, equal to $1.12 a share against $34,430,552, or $1.14 a share last year.

Woods Closing Powers Sought

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Maryland could close down its woodlands during times of extreme dry weather under a proposal made today by Forest and Parks Director Joseph Kaylor.

Kaylor said he will go before the Legislative Council with a suggestion that Gov. McKeldin be empowered to close State woodlands to the public when dry weather creates a forest fire hazard.

He said other populous States with large wooded areas already have this power. Maryland does not.

"Increasing use of our parks by both residents and nonresidents would make passage of such a law desirable in my opinion," Kaylor said.

Woods are extremely dry now but so far there have been no serious fires.

Kaylor said his department has been appealing to the public to be extremely careful of cigarettes, matches and fires during the present dry spell.

McKeldin's Aide Helps Young Man To Find Derwood

ANNAPOLIS, July 25 (AP)—A young Baltimore man sought Gov. McKeldin's help today in locating Derwood, Md.

He said he wanted to visit a girl there but had been unable to find out where it is.

"I have been to Greyhound, Trailways, W.B. & A. bus terminals, police department, police officers, cab drivers, strangers, post office and fire department," he wrote.

"I am hoping you can answer (the question) since you are governor of Maryland and should know the territory."

An aide to the governor found out from the State Roads Commission that Derwood is one mile east of Gaithersburg in Montgomery County, and sent the young man a map with the location pinpointed on it.

Testimony Complete In Morgantown, C&P Franchise Dispute

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., July 25 (AP)—Testimony was completed today in the prolonged franchise dispute between the city of Morgantown and Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co.

Circuit Judge Don J. Eddy announced that final arguments would be heard at an unspecified date in September.

The dispute grew out of the company's application for a 50-year franchise, in which it offered a specified number of free telephones to the city for use of the streets and other concessions.

The city would agree only to a 20-year franchise and passed an ordinance creating a franchise tax on all public utilities. The rate was 4 per cent of the company's gross annual business done in Morgantown.

C. & P. obtained a temporary injunction restraining the city from collecting the special tax. The hearing is on a company request to make the restraining order permanent.

Over company protest, testimony was given yesterday that C. & P.'s gross income in Morgantown for 1956 was 1 1/4 million dollars. Based upon the 4 per cent rate, the city's tax share of that amount would have been $60,000.

More than 50 per cent of the population of Bolivia are Indians who speak only their own dialects.

Ahlquist Firm Low On Ft. Meade Project

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—The U. S. Army Engineers announced today that the Ahlquist Construction Co. of College Park, Md., submitted the low bid of $769,912.16 to construct connecting utilities for the 1,000-unit housing development at Ft. Meade, Md.

The contract, when awarded, will call for construction of water storage and distribution system and water pumping station, a sanitary sewer system, storm drainage system, gas and telephone service building, an electrical distribution system, and the laying of about 13,000 square yards of bituminous paving.

The job will take about a year for completion.

Northern And Southern Baptists In Rapport—At Least On Executive Level

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Northern and Southern Baptists today are on remarkably intimate terms—at least on the executive level.

The presidents of both the American (Northern) and Southern Baptist conventions belong to the same congregation.

"It's plumb phenomenal unprecedented," said Rep. Brooks (D-Ark.), president of the Southern Baptists.

"It's circumstantial and providential," said the Rev. Dr. Clarence Cranford, president of the American Baptists.

The neighborly situation, set against the backdrop of past rivalry, symbolizes a broad, paradoxical tendency in the two denominations—both toward greater cooperation and the tensions of close contact.

So far as the two presidents are concerned, however, there is a thoroughgoing rapport.

"Happy circumstances find us together," said Hays. "The exchange of ideas is very helpful."

"We can keep each other informed," Dr. Cranford said.

The presidential proximity came about because of a simple but unusual arrangement in Washington, D.C., where Baptist churches—54 of them—are "dually aligned." That is, they are affiliated with both conventions.

Dr. Cranford is pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church there, and Hays is a member. They were electd last spring as heads of the separate denominations, and when they got back to their mutual church, greetings went something like this:

"The little president salutes the big president," said Dr. Cranford, smiling. (American Baptists number about 1½ million compared with the 8½ million Southern Baptists.)

Replied Hays, "It's the 'Little Rock' that's important. Big Rock isn't even on the map." (His reference was to Little Rock, Ark., capital of his home state.)

The close relationship of the two presidents reflects, a in a figurative way, forces at work in the two long-divided Baptist bodies.

On the one hand, recent years have brought a growing solidarity among Baptists, both in theological emphasis and activities, and further moves in this direction are in the making.

On the other hand, massive population movements that have brought the two regional groups into direct contact with one another geographically have created some frictions.

Over-all, however, the two presidents say the balance is on the side of teamwork. They were interviewed jointly here, when they came to New York together to hear evangelist Billy Graham. Dr. Porter Routh, Southern Baptist executive secretary, sat in on the discussion.

"Not within my memory," Hays said, "has the good will between the two conventions been so great. Of course, there are peaks and valleys. But the relationship today is extremely cordial."

"Modern means of communication and transportation," Dr. Cranford said, "have enabled us to know each other better. The tremendous shifts in population also have lessened sectionalism. Geographical divisions no longer are as fixed."

Yet, as a result of these residential changes, some irritation has occurred.

The big Southern Convention, growing rapidly, has spread over the country until now it is a nationwide denomination with churches in 44 states, and heavy concentrations in many Northern states.

This territory once was the American Baptist preserve. Despite efforts to avoid direct competition, there has been some conflict. Dr. Cranford, asked how American Baptists view the Southern Baptist invasion, said:

"Various. A lot of Northern Baptists don't like it. Many wish that the Southern Baptists would come in and work with the American Baptist churches.

"I think it all depends on how it is done. When they come in on the basis that they have resources for a task that American Baptists don't have and are ready to work together, then it's entirely acceptable.

"When they come in and say they're going to serve an area because American Baptists don't know how, then it's resented."

Hays said the Southern Baptist aim was to go only where there was "work to do in occupying a vacuum and without disturbing the work of the other body."

He said the Southern Baptist Home Missions Board had a rule against lending funds to start a new church within a prescribed distance of another Baptist church—Northern or Southern—to avoid duplicated effort and competition.

Simultaneously, with this geographical mixing of Baptists, and its mixed problems and promises other developments indicate increased Baptist concord.

The two conventions, along with other Baptist bodies, are working on plans for a huge, cooperative venture in evangelism, in which nearly all the country's 19 million Baptists will join in a six-year program, beginning in 1959.

Called the "Baptist Jubilee Advance," it will culminate in 1964, the 150th anniversary of the formation of the first national organization of Baptists in America. The motto for the drive:

"Every Baptist witnessing and working together for Christ."

Dr. Routh noted that this will be the first time all major Baptist bodies have joined in such a comprehensive undertaking. Other mutual Baptist work has come into being, however, such as a joint public affairs office in Washington.

While Northern and Southern Methodists united in 1939, and Northern and Southern Presbyterian have been making efforts to merge, there has been no major move among Baptists to heal the old Civil War rift by organic merger.

Pronouncements of the two conventions about race—both of them considering any move of this nature opposing segregation—are about the same, however. Differences on other matters are largely secondary. As Dr. Routh put it, they're mostly in "methodology rather than theology." As for possibilities of future union, however, Hays said:

"Our people are not seriously considering any move of this nature. Our people want a separate kind of polity in which it can come from the top down."

has to be on cooperation, on avoiding overlapping functions that are wasteful exertions in view of the extreme need in so many places. Dr. Cranford said: "Any move toward uniting the two bodies would have to come from the grass roots up. We don't have the kind of polity in which it can come from the top down."

Frostburger Retires In S.C.

Miss Helen Livingstone Griffith, Myrtle Beach, S. C., formerly of Frostburg, has retired as a public school teacher after serving in that position in Florence, S. C., 25 years and Myrtle Beach, three.

The daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Timothy Griffith of Frostburg, Miss Griffith received instruction of a tutor until she was 10, when she entered Allegheny County Academy, Cumberland. She is a graduate of National Cathedral School, Washington, and completed her education with undergraduate and graduate work at Johns Hopkins University, Harvard University and Peabody College.

While in college Miss Griffith was president of the Canterbury Club and was volunteer director of a church camp for girls in Maryland; and director of the altar guild. She also served on a volunteer basis in a convalescent home for underprivileged children in Massachusetts.

In 1929, Miss Griffith went to Florence to teach psychology and American history in McClenaghan High School. For 25 years Miss Griffith was a teacher in the church school of St. John's Prot-

The regatta starts tomorrow morning around 10 o'clock, with 35 or 40 sailboats participating. In addition to the members' boats, there will be some from Toledo, Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind.; Washington, Baltimore, Richmond, Va.; Philadelphia, New York State and Lake Erie. Trophies will be awarded for all classes.

Sunday morning they will sail the finals.

After a luncheon there will be the presentation of trophies by Commodore Frederic D. Steiding and Henry K. Duke, chairman of the Regatta committee.

Miss Griffith plans to devote her time now to the two gift shops in Myrtle Beach, of which she is part owner.

Cresap Club Receives Reports

The Cresap Homemakers Club received Civil Defense and activity reports at the meeting held yesterday morning in conjunction with an outing at Celanese pool. Members and their families were entertained at a covered dish luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Arlie Borror presided at the business session. She reported $210.11 was realized at the bake sale the club and Cresap-town Methodist Church conducted at the Community Fun Festival. The funds raised are for the Community Council Recreation Program. She also told of the club's float in the parade, depicting the family and home building world peace.

Members desiring to enroll in a first aid course were asked to give their names to Mrs. Edgar Hounshell, Civil Defense chairman. A class will start the latter part of September or early in October.

The next meeting will be August 29, instead of the usual fourth Thursday, because of the Cumberland Fair. It will be at the home of Mrs. Arthur Ferguson, Cresaptown.

Mrs. Edward Lewis reported on the 4-H style revue at LaVale fire hall last week, and the 4-H district demonstration in Hagerstown Wednesday. At the latter she was home management and home furnishing judge. Group singing of "God of our Fathers," "America" and "The More We Get Together," was led by Mrs. Thomas Millar. Mrs. Borror read a poem, "Mother." A card was signed by all the members and sent to Mrs. Emma Hinrich, who is a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital with a broken collarbone sustained in a fall at her home Triple Lakes. Roll call was answered with each telling where she and her family would like to spend their vacation. The recreation consisted of swimming and games. Twenty-five members and their families attended. Guests were Mrs. Warren Murphy, Miss Evelyn May and Mrs. Betty Scollick.

Mrs. Thomas F. Jones, Gephart Drive, has returned from a visit in New York City. She was accompanied here by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Jones, Long Island, N. Y.

Boy Sets Off Dynamite Cap; Home Is Damaged

Charges Bias

JOSEPH JACOBS, of Atlanta, Ga., Southern director of the United Textile Workers, appearing before the Senate rackets committee in Washington, accuses AFL-CIO President George Meany of "bias" in charging two UTW leaders with misusing union funds. Meany testified he had urged action for what he called a "phony" financial report.

Council Begins Work On Levy At Ridgeley

Preliminary steps for the setting of the town levy were discussed at a special meeting of the Mayor and Council of Ridgeley Wednesday.

Various provisions were aired by the department heads, who outlined the estimated needs of their sections for the coming year.

The proposed levy will be presented at another special meeting next week, according to Mayor Charles H. Fryer, who said the levy will then be sent to the West Virginia State Tax Commissioner for approval.

Pending his approval, the levy must be read at three Council meetings in order that residents of the community can voice any protest against provisions in the levy, the mayor explained.

The levy will become law after the third reading, he continued, unless protests are heavy enough to require the rewording or rewriting of any provision—which would require the procedure to be repeated.

The levy approved for the town's operating expenses for the 1956-57 fiscal year totaled $22,754.16. Mayor Fryer said, pointing out that the expenses must be kept within the money collected from the tax rates on the various classes of property within the town limits.

The Western Maryland Railway Company which runs its lines through Ridgeley and operates a yard within the town limits, is the largest single taxpayer in Ridgeley.

In planning the battleship Missouri, draftsmen used 175 tons of blue-print paper.

A nine-year-old West Side boy had a narrow escape Wednesday after tinkering around with a loaded dynamite cap at his home.

The youngster, Bobby Fair, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fair, 106 Luteman Road, escaped injury, but considerable property damage was caused by the explosion.

City Police yesterday said Fair and several other youths were playing ball on the Allegheny High School field where construction work is being done. After the game, the Fair boy and another youngster found the dynamite cap.

Fair took the cap to his bedroom, and around 9 p.m., decided to see if it would explode. The boy set the cap, pointed outward, on his window sill and inserted the two lead wires into a receptacle.

The explosion damaged the sill and sections of the window frame, and Fair, being protected by the wall, escaped unhurt.

Detective Lt. James E. Van said a number of warnings have been issued concerning dynamite caps, but young boys have only one thought when they find them, and that is to see if it will explode.

Police have asked construction firms to make certain that the caps are not left lying around when the workers quit for the day.

Man Sought Here Nabbed In Colorado

A Westernport man will be returned from Denver, Colo., to face charges here on breaking and entering a Barton service station.

Sheriff Edward Muir and a special deputy will leave Cumberland today by automobile to pick up Roy E. Dayton, 29, of Westernport.

Dayton was taken into custody Monday by an FBI agent on a state warrant charging him with breaking and entering the establishment.

Sheriff Muir said he hopes to reach Denver on Sunday, and expects to start back to Cumberland on Monday.

The case against Dayton was developed by Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, Tfc. Harry Bosley and Tfc. Milton C. Hart.

Sgt. Baker obtained the warrant charging him with the Barton breaking and entering, but said he is also wanted for breaking and enterings in Frostburg and near the Allegany-Garrett county line on U. S. Route 40.

Local Parking Ban Rescinded By Roads Group

Mayor Roy W. Eves yesterday was informed that the Maryland State Roads Commission has approved an agreement that permits the removal of a parking ban on the easterly side of Bedford Street between Decatur and Marietta streets.

The mayor was informed by telephone that the signed contract was in the mail, and arrival of the pact is expected today.

The Traffic Bureau of the City Police Department will be instructed to remove the signs following arrival of the contract, Mayor Eves said.

The parking ban was originally made at the insistence of the Federal Bureau of Roads, with the explanation that federal law required the ban because of the width of the street between Decatur and Marietta.

Following an appeal by residents of the area, who pointed out the lack of garages and parking facilities, negotiations were begun to permit parking. The federal bureau recently approved the city's request, and the agreement was presented for final action of the State Roads Commission.

Monks were the timekeepers of the Middle Ages.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

The Brighter Side

Moans have been heard across the land, many of them justified, that next season on TV will be nothing but a collection of filmed pot-boilers from Hollywood and endless Westerns. As Goodman Ace reported: "The last thing NBC bought was called 'The Californians'. You can't get any further West than that."

But things aren't going to be all that bad. Actually there are some very, very exciting things promised for next year. And, what's more a pattern seems to be emerging which, I think, is a terribly healthful and stimulating thing for the industry. There are many, many, big one-shot shows which will be planned months ahead and will be designed to be important. That is, there will be a lot of advance drum-beating; they will be eagerly awaited and, while there are bound to be some eggs laid, they will be memorable shows as opposed to, say, "Cheyenne" where it is pretty hard to remember this week what he did last week.

One heartening and healthy sign is that big industry will be increasingly represented by great big shows. A typical example is the Ford Motor Company show in the Sullivan time spot co-starring Bing Crosby and Frank Sinatra, scheduled for Oct. 13. Standard Oil plans a mammoth TV show to commemorate its seventy-fifth anniversary. Just what form it will take is not known yet. General Motors will do the same thing for its fiftieth anniversary. (They don't know what it'll be either.)

Besides these single ventures, there will be a number of vastly ambitious series. DuPont will sponsor a series of ninety-minute spectacles, each of which sounds mighty promising. The first will be Paul Gregory's "Crescendo", a sort of tour through American native music starring Rex Harrison with Ethel Merman. (Sept. 29) Another will be "Prince and the Pauper" and two others will be musicals—a musical version of the hit play "Junior Miss", and "Aladdin" with a book by S. J. Perelman, who wrote the screen play for "Around the World in Eighty Days."

NBC will do sixteen fairy tales with Shirley Temple as hostess and also do a ninety-minute musical of "The Pied Piper" with Van Johnson and Kay Starr, and "Pinocchio" with Mickey Rooney. CBS has a forthcoming show, "The Seven Lively Arts", which will run the gamut from straight drama to essays. One thing about all these series (possibly excepting NBC's fairy tales) is a great avoidance of pattern, of formula. No two of the DuPont shows are at all alike and the shows on "Seven Lively Arts" from week to week will vary tremendously in mood and content.

If there's any trend at all, this is it and I not only think this is an encouraging sign for the viewers but a healthy and wise course for the industry. For instance, one of the most interesting prospects for the coming season is the Frank Sinatra show on ABC. Two of these will be live musicals and the rest half-hour films but they won't—at least on paper so far as we know—at all resemble the ordinary singer show of the Perry Como type. Besides singing, Sinatra is going to act, do sketches and flex his muscles in all directions. I think he is very wise. Personalities who plan to stay in this medium very long had better have some little surprises for the customer, week after week. Experience has shown that entertainers who stick to a formula lose their audience—no matter how popular they are at the start.

It has always seemed to me that, if television were to grow and command respect and attract a universal audience, it should aim at two things. First, the show should be big and important and—even in prospect—sound challenging and exciting. Secondly, the networks should make a studious attempt in their once-a-week shows at change of pace—to throw a curve one week and a high, hard one the next week, and a let-up pitch the third week—rather than to fall in to the mould of, say, "Father Knows Best." Not that there won't always be an audience for the formula series like "I Love Lucy", at least the better ones, but big television which was once Milton Berle doing a variety show once a week will be something like a ninety-minute version of "Annie Get Your Gun" with Mary Martin (which NBC has scheduled) once a year.

To get back to next year, there are some very ambitious public affairs shows promised. CBS is offering a weekly show, "The Twentieth Century" with five one-hour and twenty-one half-hour documentaries beginning on Oct. 21 with "The Churchill Story." NBC is contemplating a one-hour film show on Picasso and another one on the two great dancers, Ruth St. Denis and Ted Shawn, and possibly a series on mental health.

There will still be a lot of shooting and "he went thataway" on TV but there'll be some ambitious things, too.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—We may not make the first trip to the moon, but when that great-grandchild climbs on our knee and asks "what did you ever do interesting?" we can always give off a reflectively toothless cackle and say, "wal, nipper, there was that first trip of the D.C. Transit Company's silver sightseer. Must have been back in July of '57, thereabouts."

It was something like that. Our 20 cent street car sight-see took shape at the stroke of 1 p.m. in front of the Raleigh Hotel. Bandmen aboard two museum-type open-air cars. Circa 1890, were dressed in police helmets and the mustachios of that era. Behind the old cars purred the pale-pea-green refrigerated sightseeing car. And behind this group—stalled by the christening ceremony—was a line of ordinary Washington streetcars, probably filled with fine lady government clerks trying to get to emergency hospital to have the baby during the lunch hour.

Lots of dignitaries were cutting up on the loading platform, all conscious that they were being televised. ("Remember these old cars running around Washington." "Can't hear you on account of the band and the rain falling on the mike." Didn't get that question about mike...")

At last the intrepid pioneers were piped aboard. The photographers spotted Virginia Warren, the dear daughter of the chief justice, and commanded her to point out a rain-streaked window. She obeyed, pointing at what appeared through the fog to be the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, a sullen brown building. And off we went.

Two pretty stewardesses, Dorothy Collins and Celeste Stewart, trim in their uniforms, braced themselves at the front of the car, introduced themselves as well as the operator ("It's too nice a streetcar to call him a motorman," explained O. Roy Chalk, the line's president), and then told the purpose of the trip.

Miss Collins had barely reached the second paragraph of her spiel when a photographer sat down in the seat before her. She gave off a little gasp and then cried, "you're sitting on my speech." Turned out that her script was pinned to the seat.

Miss Collins gave it up as a hum idea and went to the back of the car, while we soundlessly whirled past an equestrian figure completely shrouded in startling tokens, and skirted the hole that once was the Washington Post.

"Do you think you should start telling them?" Miss Collins sang out to her colleague, still standing up front. We were screeching round the bend near the Treasury.

"We'll start with the Treasury, where most of you all's money is," smiled Miss Stewart. The car shook with muffled cheers and catcalls. "This is where the treasurer of the United States, Ivy Baker Priest, works. She..."

"There's Les Carpenter!" Dix on broke in, and we all swiveled our heads and waved to the startled Washington correspondent of the Houston Post, standing on the curb. It is not known whether he will be a regular attraction.

We tooled along a 5-yard stretch identified hurriedly by Miss Stewart as "known as the financial section of Washington." She got a word about a statue of Gallatin — something improbable about the Treaty of Ghent—and now we were abreast of the White House. The British burned it once, Miss Stewart charged, lowering her voice. It's a real old one, she added. "George Washington walked through it just before his death with his wife," she said, touched.

Blair House and the eager sightseers were dealt with succinctly. "Here's where Robert E. Lee signed his commission in the Army and where foreign dignitaries stay. Thank you for coming."

The trip was over. The adventurers piled out, assured by the management that this was just a preview of a much more extensive trip that included the Capitol, the Washington Monument, and the Bureau for the Standardization of Nuts, Screws, and Bolts.

Yes, sir, it was well worth the trip. Washingtonians, after all these years, now have something to do.

Grateful Skunk

WINNIPEG, July 25 (AP)—Boy Scout Bruce Shepp found a grateful skunk.

Its head was caught in a syrup can and, ever mindful of kindness to animals and the daily good turn, Bruce went to the rescue.

"I yanked the skunk and the can came off," Bruce reported. The skunk disappeared into the bush, giving thanks by omission—without emission.

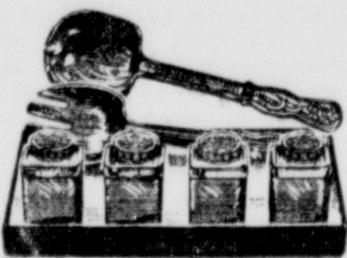

Fannon Services

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Funeral services for William P. Fannon, city sanitation engineer, will be held Saturday at his home here. A requiem mass will be sung at St. Philip and James Church. Burial will be in New Cathedral Cemetery.

Police Search For Escapees

Authorities of three states are continuing a search for two brothers who escaped from Morgan County Jail in Berkeley Springs, W. Va., on Tuesday.

Sheriff William Clark said James Shirley, 22, and Calvin Shirley, 20, escaped the lockup by forcing open a door. The sheriff noted that the same door has been forced by escapees in the past.

State Police in Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia have been conducting a search for the pair.

James Shirley is described as being six feet tall with black wavy hair. Calvin Shirley is about five feet, nine inches and has blond hair.

The brothers were being held in the jail awaiting action of the grand jury on charges of breaking and entering.

Legion Leaders AWOL As State Meeting Starts

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—The chairman and two-thirds of the members of the resolutions committee were AWOL today when the Maryland American Legion convention got under way.

Committees met while the 400 delegates to the 39th annual state convention heard reports of the Legion's activities during the last year.

The committees were busy preparing for debate and voting sessions of the delegates tomorrow and Saturday.

Only four of the 13 members of the resolutions committee showed up, however, so most of its heavy workload of proposals was tabled. The committee acted only on two "noncontroversial resolutions" — just thank you resolutions, officials said.

Pending are resolutions ranging from a denunciation of the status-of-forces treaties to a suggestion that a rain-making device be purchased for the drought-stricken Eastern Shore.

David L. Brigham, chairman of the legislative committee, issued a report which said, "This was an active but sadly disappointing year from a legislative standpoint."

He said, "No legislation requested this year by the American Legion and the members of your legislative committee has been placed on the statute books of the State." Among requested legislation were teachers' salary increases, a new flag code, traffic safety bills and certain veterans benefit bills.

An audit report gave the state organization's net worth in cash and bonds as $123,769, an increase over last year despite a loss of 944 members.

The annual parade will be held tomorrow night. Delegates were issued a parade order which warned them, "Remember that the eyes of the citizens of Baltimore are upon you. Please conduct yourself with dignity and decorum."

Merchants Name Four Directors

Four directors were named this week in the annual election of Retail Merchants Association of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

The new board members, listed alphabetically, are John J. Coyle, Robert Little Ebert, Frank A. Martin and George A. Schwarzenbach.

Holdover directors are S. Louis Curl, L. V. Shinnamon, Stuart Rosenbaum, C. William Seasholtz and W. I. Burton.

The full board will meet soon to organize and to elect officers for the coming fiscal year.

Marines Accepting 'Buddy' Enlistments

A number of buddies now may enlist in the Marine Corps and will be assured that they will remain together through the initial phases of their training.

Tech Sgt. Clifton Shotwell, local Marine recruiter, has the authority to guarantee that close friends who enlist together will be assigned to the same boot camp platoon.

Sgt. Shotwell said the "buddy system" applies even after graduation from recruit training at Parris Island, S. C., and buddies go together to Camp Lejeune, N. C. for their advanced individual combat training in the same platoon.

Cement Sales Restricted By Local Supply Firms

For the first time in the two-month national cement plant strike, the local supplies of cement have been restricted by the two major sources.

Limitations on the sale of ready-mix concrete and cement were put into effect yesterday by the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company and Super Concrete Company.

The effect of the nationwide strike of 16,000 members of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Worker's Union, affecting 70 of the country's 140 cement plants, becomes more evident each day, they reported.

Cumberland Cement and Supply Company and Super Concrete Company usually receive their supplies from the Alpha-Portland Cement Company's Mannheim, W. Va., plant near Rowlesburg.

So do the contractors on the big Cumberland-Ridgeley flood control project where much concrete is being poured.

And a statement from the company's main office at Easton, Pa., yesterday said no negotiation sessions have been set up with the union, and the picture is dark at this time as far as a settlement is concerned.

Rubber Workers Receive Report

Members of Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, last night heard a report from negotiators on the progress of wage talks with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. James Stein, president, said the members sent the negotiators "back to do more on inequity corrections."

He said the talks, in progress since early this month, will resume at 10 a. m. today.

The Mannheim plant employs 200 men and supplies much of the cement for the tri-state territory.

The strike there has caused the big flood control contractors and the local suppliers to smaller contractors to seek other sources. They have been successful, but the demands on these plants not on strike have been tremendous, and it is not possible for them to keep up with all orders.

One local supplier said the situation would not be so bad if there wasn't so much hoarding. "People get excited and start buying more than they need, thereby creating an undue hardship," he added.

Both local suppliers reported they no longer would be able to issue normal supplies.

An official of the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor on channeling Wills Creek from Valley

Street to Market Street reported there was a delay in the firm's work at the start of the strike, but cement was received from another source other than the Mannheim plant.

The cement has to be shipped from a more distant point, but there is enough to carry the pouring through this week.

The strike has had little effect so far on road work in Maryland's Sixth District, covering Allegany, Garrett, Washington and counties.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer, said that if the strike continues a few more days every project in the area will feel the consequences of the cement shortage.

Some will not be hurt too much, he said, as the work consists of grading and surfacing with black-top. Others, however, will where there is construction of concrete headwalls, cutters and bridges.

A check of local building contractors reported that the shortage has not affected them so far. The cement strike has had no effect so far on the big expansion project at the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

What About That Economy Wave?

A wave of public demand for reduced federal spending which reached heights of great promise several weeks ago, now appears to be leveling off.

Nearly everyone was getting into the act. Manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, bankers, farmers, wage earners and salaried individuals whipped up a vociferous storm against what they termed outrageous spending by Washington, and the campaign was beginning to attract attention. But now that storm is only a gentle breeze.

What happened? When the calls for cuts in spending were at their highest pitch earlier in the year, there were tentative hints from Washington that various boondoggling projects might be curtailed or abandoned. Whenever a specific project was mentioned, a howl of deep anguish arose from the area where the money was to have been spent.

When it was intimated that the government could go ahead with this or that if the budget were not cut, demands for reduced spending became less vociferous. Now when the Senators and Representatives come home to do their back-patting and fence-building, they probably will hear three cheers for the new funds planned for local communities for every cheer for effort to cut expenses.

With all this federal money looking good for various areas, it is not surprising that the fire, once hot for less spending, is cooling off.

Many of these projects eventually may go the way of the Hell's Canyon boondoggle in Idaho, but the hope of receiving the local handouts far outweighs the pleas for reduced spending. And those up for re-election next year thrive on that attitude on the part of the people.

Summer Festivals

More and more the summer festival becomes not only a musical treat but also a fashion. And each year, it increases in number and variety. The Shakespeare festivals in Stratford, Connecticut and in Canada, are unfolding the virtues of the Bard to generations that have not known the great actors of the 19th Century up to 1912, whose careers in the theater reached their glory when Hamlet or Juliet was achieved. Who, who ever heard them, can forget Sothern and Marlowe or Ellen Terry or Richard Mansfield?

Today, there is a resurgence of the live theater, as it is called in contrast with movies and television, and actors and actresses who are accustomed to the fabulous salaries which these commercial media are willing to pay, turn to "off Broadway" or "on Broadway" or even summer stock to be themselves and not the shadow of a director or even a banker who has sunk his money in a tin-can full of film.

So the summer stock companies proliferate all over the United States in out-of-the-way places where it is possible to play without paying so much for stage hands and stand-ins and similar exorbitantly paid personages, who add little to the show but "on Broadway" can close the theater down and end the career of author and actor.

The music festival is also proliferating, but it involves much more than the theater, for a symphony orchestra consists of at least a hundred persons, not including guest conductors and choruses. It takes considerable organization and housing to move such an army about.

I usually go to the summer festival at Tanglewood which is now a hoary institution on the road in Lenox, Massachusetts where Hawthorne wrote his "Tanglewood Tales" and not far from the Stockbridge of the Sedgewicks and the Pittsfield of Oliver Wendell Holmes, the elder, he who wrote of the breakfast table as his son wrote decisions for the courts.

The Berkshires have long possessed an atmosphere of American culture and Tanglewood sits in the midst of it, quite properly not merely an orchestral performance for the cognoscenti, which used to be a New England word for those of great knowledge and taste who could listen to Brahms before recordings made him a household problem, but also a school for the young and ambitious, many of whom have already proved their virtues and their virtuosity.

It is a lovely grove where one sits and listens. This year, there is much Tchaikovsky and Stravinsky, the former being easy to take even by those whose main musical treat is the radio; the latter still being a bit of a problem to many who wonder why he has to make so much noise to get over the point that when the Earth was created it was done by things banging into others. Atoms can be frightfully noisy, particularly when they explode.

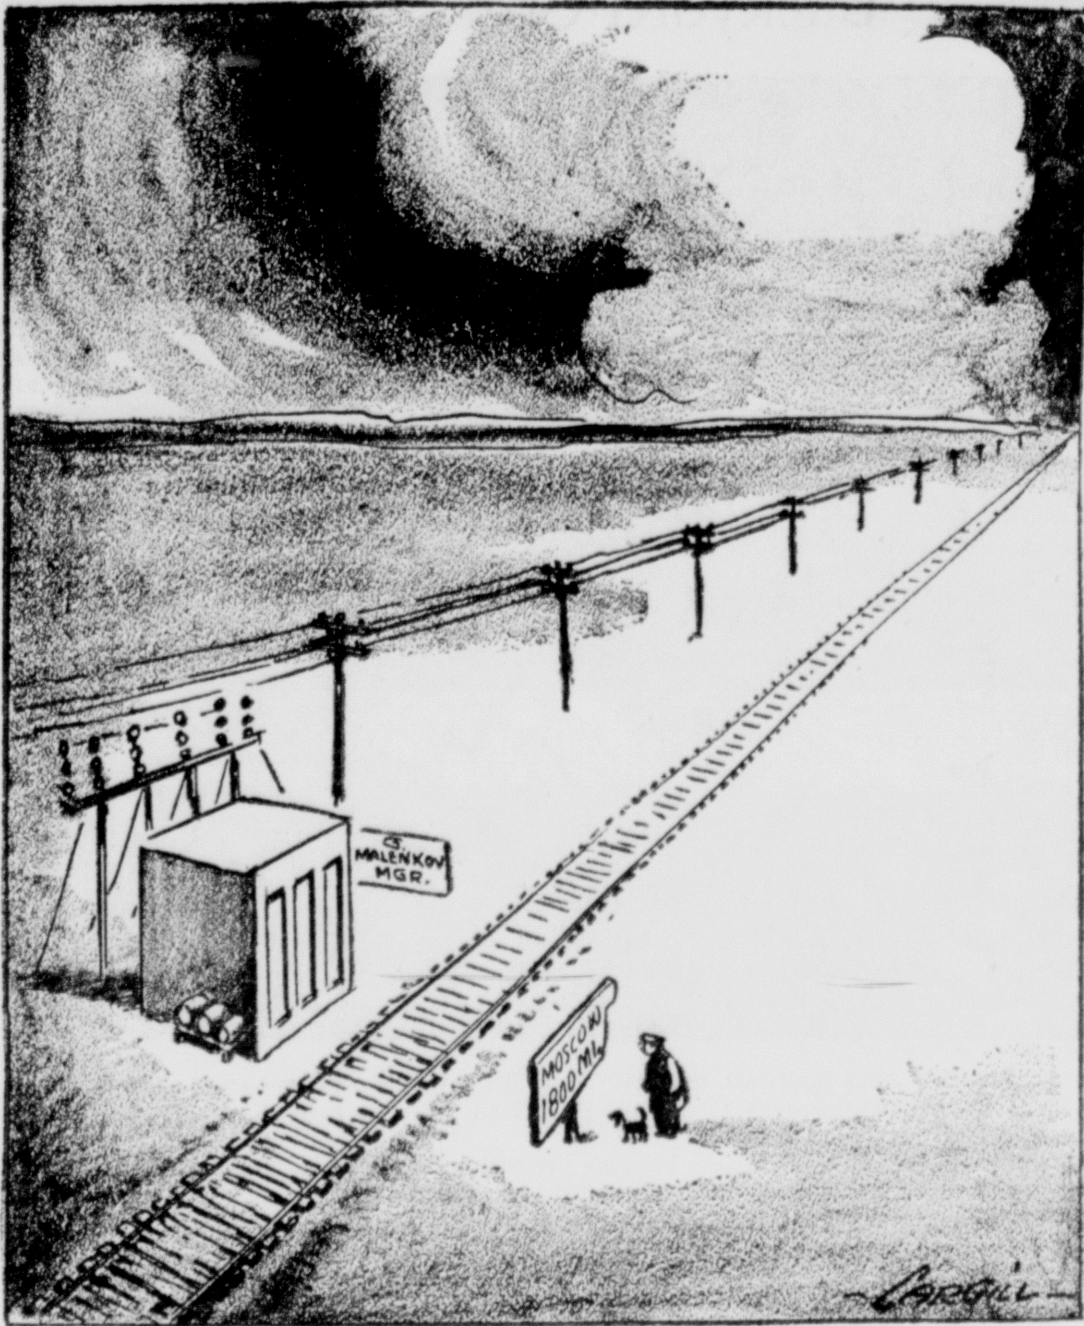

However, as Stravinsky is the father of all modern music, some of which disguised by vulgarity opens most movies, it is something for the intellect to listen to him and to try to discover why dissonance is as beautiful, if it is, as consonance and harmony. Yet, we live in a dissonant world, one of wars, confusion, falsehood and oppression. It is a world of politics instead of philosophy.

Stravinsky wrote his "Le Sacre du Printemps" in 1913, even before World War I brought its disasters upon the world. Therefore he must be regarded as a prophet, because so little else has been right since then.

I was talking to a Republican Congressman at Tanglewood who enjoys good music when he can get away from the cacophony of the House of Representatives. He, too, listened to Stravinsky; nevertheless, he thought that all was well because the Republicans possessed such virtue. I could not help asking him how he or anyone else can believe we are safe and secure when the Government of the United States has to pay four per cent for short term bonds. Either the bankers have no faith in the credit of the country or we are being robbed. Not since the worst days of the depression, in 1933, has the Government of the United States been required to pay such a high rate of interest.

Therefore, Stravinsky was right, even if he said it on a cynical.

Clinton Case Illustrates Force Of Injunctions

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — On the surface it looks as if a Southern jury of white persons did convict seven white persons for failing to obey a federal court injunction against interference with integration in a public school at Clinton, Tenn. This is being hailed in Congress as a vindication of the right of trial by jury. But actually the case isn't as simple as it appears.

For the defendants at Clinton were really not entitled by law to a trial by jury and got that privilege only after a lot of pressure from public opinion throughout the country.

The truth is the Department of Justice did its utmost to prevent a trial by jury and used precisely the same tactics as are now proposed in the pending "civil rights" legislation. It sought to change the docket in the case from one filed by private individuals to one in which the "United States" would be a party. Under existing law, of course, any contempt case in which the United States Government is a party automatically takes away the right to trial by jury. To resort to the device of a change from private persons to the "United States" as a party is like changing the rules in the middle of any game.

The judge in the case was on the spot. The Department of Justice was on the spot, too. Public criticism was mounting. The judge finally devised his own solution. He decided not to grant the request of the Department of Justice to change the docketing in the case. This removed the barrier against jury trial, and the case was tried in the names of the parties who originally filed it and a jury was then empaneled.

Some interesting comments came from the judge during preliminary arguments. In the May 2 proceedings, Mr. Dobbs, an attorney for one of the defendants, was arguing before the judge that the injunction was "too broad" and that it "enjoined everyone from everything."

"Well, of course," replied Judge Taylor, "you are entitled to your interpretation, and I am not saying that you are wrong in any respect. You are entitled to your views about it, but I want to say to you that in that injunction it was not the intention of the court to enjoin everybody and everything; it was the intention of the court to enjoin the persons that were named from interfering, hindering, or impeding the carrying out of this order which was granted, I believe, on January 4, 1956.

"If the language used was construed that way by you, Mr. Dobbs, and by others, then it was an unfortunate choice of language by the court. In other words, when these matters are presented, the court is required to act. That was the language of the court. The court didn't have the time to spend a month, like you do on a brief, putting every sentence and exactly every word just where it ought to be

Yet, out of the original 17 persons arrested and named as defendants in this case, six were

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

During one of Shickelgruber's high level purges we wrote that crabs fighting in a basket don't affect crabs fighting in another basket.

But they do and finally the fiddler crab is playing his last tune. Looks like that happened in the Moscow basket when Molotov betrayed the revolution by closing his eyes during the flash-light picture.

That's what we like about our Washington banquets. They may be monotonous. But they're not final.

We are looking at a flash of Molly, Kaggy, Bulgy, Khrushy and Maley at the happy 1955 picnic spread. Too bad the apple-polishers didn't know it's better to polish the apple sauce.

Molly, Kaggy and Maley are gone where the woodbine twined and the grass is evergreen. The question is has Khrushy lost three executives or gained three bathrooms?

We were wrong in 1938 when we said crustacean meles in party wicker-work had no outside rumbles. What's true of nature is true of nations. The tree dies at the top.

No matter what direction they spoon their soup in the Kremlin the ripples reach the sea.

We've heard Khrushy on one of our herring-boned channels. If the answer is up to our Trendex he's finished.

Big Antitrust Suit Against Gas Firms Suddenly Cancelled By Government

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One of the biggest antitrust suits planned by the Justice Department in years has been suddenly and mysteriously dropped.

It was to have been filed in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee July 8 against three important gas companies — American Natural Gas, Peoples Gas Light & Coke, and Northern Natural Gas.

The Justice Department had the bill of complaint drafted and a press release all ready to issue. But the press release was never issued. The bill of complaint was never filed.

Suddenly and mysteriously the antitrust suit was called off. Ex-Gov. Tom Dewey, counsel for Peoples Gas, is given credit by some for having the antitrust suit called off suddenly. Dewey is very close to Attorney General Brownell, who managed his campaign for president in 1944.

Dewey was out of the United States and not available for comment this week, but in the past he has told this column that he made it a practice never to intervene in matters affecting the Eisenhower administration in Washington.

Others attributed the sudden cancellation to the fact that an antitrust case of this kind would have focused attention upon the natural gas industry just at a time when the Eisenhower administration is trying to pass a new natural gas bill exempting the industry from Federal regulation.

Secret Conference

With natural gas in short supply in the northern United States, Canadian gas is highly coveted. Various companies have been eyeing the vast and largely undeveloped wealth of Canada. So when Tennessee Gas Transmission secured this concession, it ran into a secret monopoly move by the old Sam Insull holdings in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

The Insull holdings are now represented by American Natural Gas, Peoples Gas Light & Coke, and Northern Natural. They serve Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and Indiana.

These three companies held a confidential meeting with Gardner Simonds, head of Tennessee Gas Transmission, at the Chicago Club December 11 after he offered to sell them gas.

The three who participated in this closed-door conference were John Merriam of Northern Natural Gas; Ralph McIlvaine of American Natural Gas, and James Oates of Peoples Gas Light & Coke.

They took Simonds by surprise by demanding that he sell them three-quarters of the stock in the new pipeline from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. Simonds emphatically said no.

After this abortive conference in Chicago the three executives of the old Insull empire asked for another conference. This took place in the Carlton Hotel in Washington on January 3, at which time the three competitors asked Simonds how far he was willing to go in selling them stock in his new pipeline. He replied that he would give them 40 per cent of the stock. They replied that they would take 75 per cent or nothing.

The three midwest utility executives then told Simonds he could take it or leave it. This was their final offer.

Governors Get Sore

Following this, various state utility commissions and governors got into the act. The Wisconsin Public Service Commission and governors got into the act. The Wisconsin Public Service Commission was especially incensed, since Wisconsin is desperately hard up for gas. So was Sen. Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin. Gov. Vernon Thomson of Wisconsin also testified before the Federal Power Commission urging that the pipeline be built from Canada to the Gulf.

Other governors who urged the pipeline were Mennen Williams of Michigan, Orville Freeman of Minnesota, Democrats; and William Stratton of Illinois, Republican. They represent areas badly in need of gas due in part to the defense industries concentrated in the middle west; due also to the coming of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

In Chicago, several thousand homes have applied for gas but can't get it due to insufficiency of supply. In Minnesota, plans are under way for the rehabilitation of worked-over iron mines, but this is dependent upon an ample supply of gas.

As a result of indignation by midwest governors, the Justice Department prepared its antitrust suit against the three former Insull companies. Then at the last minute the suit was dropped.

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Eight of the current top 10 recordings are by male singers. The only females to get on this list of best sellers are Joni James and Patti Page. It was not like that in the olden days, I mean in the 1920s and '30s when Helen Morgan, Libby Holman, Belle Baker and Ruth Etting were vocalizing. And where can be found today a feminine vocalist who could sell a song like Nora Bayes or Blanche Ring?

PASSING BY

Norma Millay. Sister of that brilliant poet, the late Edna St. Vincent Millay. It was when a very young woman that Edna, then living in Greenwich Village, attracted national attention with her poem about "burning the candle at both ends." In addition to being a clever writer, Miss Millay was an actress with the Provincetown Players during the days that Eugene O'Neill was associated with that group. . . Robert Six. Ethel Merman's third husband. Mr. Six, a very clever executive, is an important figure in the passenger airline field. He recently bought 15 Viscount planes in England. These planes cost about $1½ million each.

INVENTION

An everlasting safety razor blade. One that would retain its sharpness for thousands of years. That's what a subscriber says a friend of his invented. The inventor then sold the process to a large razor company. My informant says that company kept the invention off the market. It could happen. Many inventions are said to have suffered a similar fate. Or nearly so. As for example, it is said the zipper was kept off the market by button manufacturers long after its invention.

PLEASE NOTE

As a publicity gag, a Las Vegas, Nev. gambling joint exhibits in a glass case a pair of dice with which it alleges a patron made 28 straight passes. Suppose a gambling joint client started with a dollar bet and continued to let the money ride, how soon would the house call a halt. After 16 passes the man would be shooting for around $160,000. After 20 passes, he would be throwing for over a million dollars.

COLOR PSYCHOLOGY

Color psychologists continue to maintain that if a secretary plans to ask her boss for a raise or some special favor she should wear a blue polka dot dress on that occasion. The psychologists claim that will put the man in a pleasant, receptive mood. They advise against wearing a green dress. That, they say, has an irritating effect on an executive. The color psychology experts also say if a school teacher wears a yellow dress she will find her pupils easier to handle. And, of course, they still say the color with the most male attracting power is watermelon pink. That a girl wearing a gown of that color will never be a wallflower.

ASIDES

The great statesman Disraeli, a very happily married man, is said to have once complimented his matrimonial mate as follows: "My dear, you are more like a mistress than a wife." . . . Italy has another "wonder horse" that will probably win the British St. Leger and the French Arc de Triomphe stakes. The noble animal's name is Braque. Keep it in mind.

ALLERGY

Hay fever is not caused by hay. Nor is it accompanied by fever. It is an allergy caused by airborne pollen (flower dust). The chief offender is ragweed. One of the leading authorities on hay fever treatment is Dr. Joseph D. Wassersug. He has compiled a pamphlet titled "What You Can Do For Hay Fever," which is considered the outstanding work on the subject. This pamphlet is distributed by the Hay Fever Prevention Society, 158 Remsen Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. Price 25 cents a copy.

SYSTEM

A Californian, a student of and believer in numerology, says he has had considerable success with a system of playing thoroughbred with seven-letter names. He asks my opinion of such a system. I can't go for anything like that. I am strictly a form player. However, it is interesting to note the unusual number of great horses who have had seven-letter names. As for examples: Bull Lea, Bewitch, Man O' War, Assault, Sysobny, Tom Fool, Phalanx, High Gun, On Trust, Shut Out, Mahmoud, and Morvich.

LITTLE GERMAN BAND

Do you remember the little German bands that played on the sidewalks of New York and derived their incomes from coins tossed to them by listeners in the neighborhood? If not cease calling yourself a Young Old Timer. Ever hear of Guckenheim's Sauer Kraut Band? That is a present day amateur organization of San Francisco business men. The leader is Richard Gump, head of the celebrated department store of that name. This musical group of gay San Franciscans specializes in "German band" music such as "The Hamburger Waltz," "Drum, Mein Liebling," "The Winko So Schnell Gallop," "The Poet and Peasant Overture" and the "Skaters' Waltz."

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

One year the famous Harvard English professor, Charles Townsend Copeland, decided to whip up an anthology of literary tidbits he particularly fancied (it was published under the title of "The Copeland Reader"). Toward the end of his labors an acquaintance asked him, "How did you spend the summer?" The beloved "Copey" answered airily, "Just raiding and writing."

Tom Sherman, St. Louis Dispatch literary editor, had a phone call from a lady urgently requesting his presence at a dinner party on "the twenty-fourth." Queried Tom, "Do you mean the twenty-fourth of this month or the next?" "This month," said the lady.

Tom, suddenly remembering, protested, "But the twenty-fourth was yesterday!" "It certainly was," snapped the lady, "and where the hell were you?"

DUMBBELLS FOR BURSTITIS

K. J. writes: Is the use of dumbbells good in burstitis?

REPLY

Not during the acutely painful stage; treatment via steroid injections is preferred. Later, exercise is helpful in keeping the parts limber. Our leaflet on burstitis makes some suggestions along this line. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the leaflet.

REFRIGERATION

B. L. writes: How is the body cooled for certain types of operations?

REPLY

Special refrigerating devices that utilize chopped ice are used. The patient is anesthetized to withstand the discomfort and shock.

HARD WATER

F. G. writes: Could drinking hard water cause hardening of the arteries?

REPLY

No. The cause of arteriosclerosis is not known but we think that cholesterol and other fatty substances in the diet play a role. These chemicals are not present in hard water, which contains calcium carbonate and various salts.

HOSPITAL WORKUP

REPLY

It is similar to a medical checkup, utilizing all the laboratory facilities in the hospital. This checkup may include a liver profile, for example, in which more than one liver test is performed.

REPLY

Yes, if the difference is slight. TOMORROW: Caloric expenditures.

Cream Puffs Ideal Entree Or Dessert

Cream puffs demand a special filling! Actually they're a perfect party pastry quite easily prepared.

Try the recipe and see for yourself... don't they have that authentic French appearance? Several fillings are appropriate... for dessert fill the puffs with a cream filling, chocolate or butterscotch pudding, ice cream or whipped cream. Perhaps you'd like to top the puffs with confectioners' sugar or fresh fruit.

For luncheon, fill the puffs with creamed meat. If the puffs are made miniature style and filled with a meat mixture, they act as a conversation piece for an hors d'oeuvre tray. Lard is an ideal shortening to use in making cream puffs, or any pastry. It has high shortening power and produces light tender and flaky baked products.

Add Variety Meats To Backyard Grill Menus

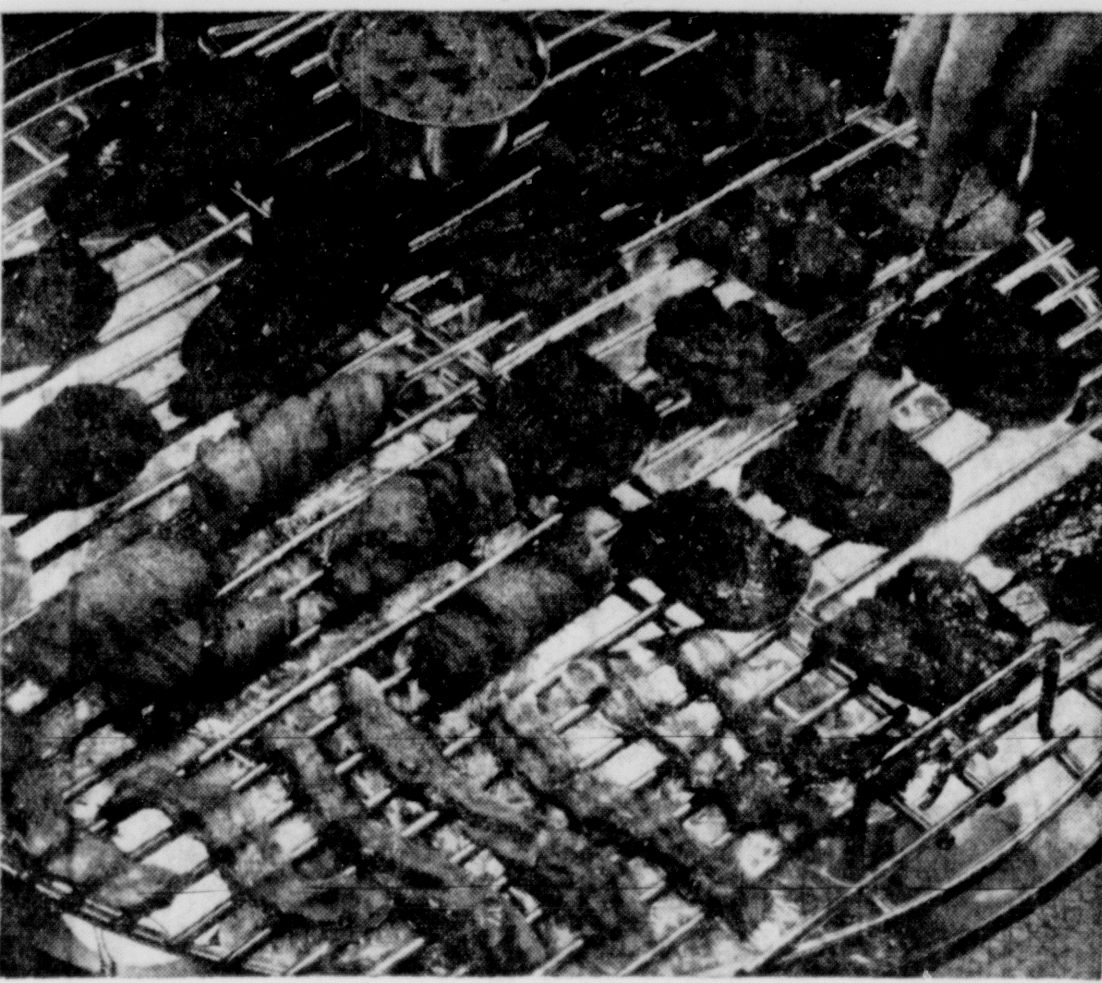

Backyard meals from the grill can be almost as versatile as meals served in the dining room. Hamburgers, steaks, and frankfurters are only the beginning of a long list of outdoor "broilables." Bacon, cold cuts, ham slices, sausage, lamb chops, and spare ribs can be cooked to perfection over hot coals.

For a change of menu in backyard cooking, try some of the variety meats. Calves' liver, sweetbreads, tongue and heart are tender, juicy and flavorful when broiled out-of-doors.

One of the most unusual grilled meats is beef tongue. Cook the meat in water until tender in the kitchen, then slice it for grilling. The broiled slices have a pleasing flavor and are slightly crusty outside, tender and juicy within. In this recipe, the tongue slices are brushed with a tasty tarragon and butter sauce before and during browning.

Grilled Tongue With Tarragon
1 fresh beef tongue, cooked
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 tablespoon dried tarragon
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar
1/4 cup tongue broth
2 tablespoons melted butter
(Simmer tongue with a small onion, sliced, and a tablespoon salt in water to cover 2 hours, or until tender.) Cool tongue slightly. Remove skin, cut away end roots and cut in 1/2 inch slice. Combine remaining ingredients and brush over slices. Grill on both sides, basting with the sauce, allowing 8 to 10 minutes total cooking time. 6 servings.

Outdoor Grilled Liver
Another variety meat that's easily cooked out-of-doors is sliced liver. Select calves' liver for best results in broiling, whether cooking indoors or out. Brush this tender meat with melted butter or margarine and broil until browned, about five minutes per side. Season it with salt and pepper before serving.

Grilled Bacon
Bacon often is served with liver and they make a tasty combination for the grill, too. Separate the slices of bacon and lay them across the grill; cook them on both sides until they reach the crispness preferred. Broiled bananas wrapped with bacon can be cooked right along with the meats. The crisp bacon is a pleasant contrast to the soft cooked fruit. Simply cut a banana in half crosswise and wrap each half with a slice of bacon, securing the ends with wooden picks. Broil over the glowing coals until the bacon is browned and crisp on all sides.

For easier turning of meats and other foods on a grill, use a pair of tongs.

Creole Pork And Cabbage

Cut the meat from 2 pork chops into 1/2 inch cubes (or use 1/4 cup cooked pork, cubed). Brown the meat in a skillet. Add fat if necessary. Cook until the meat is done. Add 1 cup chopped onions and a small amount of juice from a No. 303 can of tomatoes. Cook slowly until the onions are tender. Add the rest of the can of tomatoes, 6 cups shredded cabbage, 1/4 cup sliced fresh mushrooms or 1 can of mushrooms, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper and 1/4 teaspoon chili powder. Cover and cook until the cabbage is tender. Do not overcook. Cabbage should keep its green color. Add a small amount of water if mixture cooks dry. Cook 1 cup uncooked white rice in 2 cups of water. Spread the cooked rice on a platter. Top with the pork and cabbage. This will make about 8 servings.

A clearly refreshing (and easy) fruit dessert for a warm day consists simply of chilled canned apple slices mixed with sugared and dusted with nutmeg. As a final pour over cream that's been blended with the extra juice from the apple slices.

Add Bar-B-Q Pot-Roast To Recipe File

Cool weather, even during early August, is a perfect invitation for a pot-roast meal.

Every homemaker has her favorite pot-roast recipe but a barbecued pot-roast will find a treasure place in the cookbook.

To prepare this less-tender meat cut properly, it should be braised. And when braising, simmer, not boil the liquid in which the meat is cooking. If boiled, the meat will tend to become dry and unpalatable.

The spicy scent of this meat dish cooking will certainly attract the family and once served, your family's opinion of your culinary talent will soar.

Barbecued Pot-Roast
3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast

- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- 1 tablespoon brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup catchup
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 medium onion, sliced

Brown pot-roast in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with pepper and 1 teaspoon salt. Mix together remaining ingredients and add to pot-roast. Cover tightly and simmer 3 1/2 to 4 hours or until tender. Thicken for gravy. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

If a child is ill and must remain quiet in bed for a time, interest him in making a scrapbook for another child who is in a hospital. Magazines and catalogues provide good material for pasting in a scrap book.

Hamburgers Sport Fancy Toppings

Every year, ground beef has a major role to play in the picnic months of June, July and August. Because of their ease to pack up and travel, hamburgers have become the piece de resistance of the American picnic table.

Except for possible variations in ingredients and toppings, from all outward appearances, hamburgers are just plain hamburgers. Yet they remain in the spotlight on the popularity poll of picnic entrees.

These hamburgers will be a special treat for a back porch eat-out.

The fancy addition is a broiled topping. You have your choice of two.

Hamburgers With Broiled Topping
1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine ground beef, salt and pepper and form 6 round patties. Place on broiler rack about 3 inches from the heat. Broil on one side until nicely browned, about 10 minutes. Turn, broil second side about 5 minutes. Spread patties with desired topping and broil about 2 more minutes. Yield: 6 patties.

Roquefort Topping: Mix together 6 tablespoons Roquefort cheese and 6 tablespoons chopped onion and top each patty with mixture. Finish broiling.

Spanish Topping: Spread about 2 tablespoons of chili sauce on each patty and top with sliced, stuffed olives. Finish broiling.

Even if you're on a rigid diet, you can still sit down to dinner with your family.

Secrets Of Charm by John Robert Powers

A Family Affair

The first visit an expectant mother has with her obstetrician is considerably longer than the subsequent ones. One of the most important facts the doctor will advise her on is diet, for so much depends on proper nutrition. No physician wants his patient to put on too much weight, so he explains what rules to follow for a safe and happy pregnancy.

In particular, the doctor will tell the mother-to-be what foods she may or may not eat in the succeeding months of her pregnancy. This puts extra responsibility on her since she will be "eating for two," but her calorie intake cannot be too high.

If the same family, there may be a growing adolescent child who needs at least 3200 calories a day, a husband wishing to maintain present weight by holding to 2500 calories a day, as well as a grandmother hoping to lose by following a 1200-calorie-a-day schedule. This can be a great problem. Not only because of the calorie variety in one family, but because it means extra work for the mother. Counting calories isn't enough; what's most important is to see that these calories come from the correct foods, from a balanced diet of proteins, minerals, vitamins, carbohydrates and fats.

We have the solution for you with the booklet called "Your Beauty Diet," which makes it possible for the whole family to sit down to the same delicious, economical, and well-balanced meal. For your copy, write to this column, c/o this paper, and enclose 10¢ (coin only), plus a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Whether you want to gain, lose, or remain the same, "Your Beauty Diet" has been worked out to your needs. Each member of the family can select the foods suited to his or her own individual requirements.

Rice And Vegetable Hot Cakes

Beat 1 egg in a mixing bowl. Add 1 cup cooked rice, 1 cup cooked chopped mixed vegetables and 1/4 cup grated cheese. Sift together 1/2 cup all-purpose flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon black pepper. Add to the rice and vegetable mixture. Mix well. Add enough milk (about 1/2 cup) to make a thick batter. Mix thoroughly. Spoon the hot cake batter onto a hot greased griddle or in a skillet to form cakes of the size desired. Cook on one side until a number of bubbles appear. Turn over and cook on other side. Serve hot.

as a vegetable. If desired, serve with diluted condensed mushroom soup heated until hot. This recipe makes about 10 cakes 3 1/2 inches in diameter.

Hugenot Torte

- 4 eggs
- 3 cups sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups chopped tart cooking apples
- 2 cups chopped pecans or walnuts
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Beat whole eggs in electric degree heat. After the fowl is very frothy and lemon-colored back, allowing it to brown.

Add other ingredients in above order. Pour into two well buttered baking pans about 8 by 12 inches. Bake in 325° oven about 45 minutes or until crusty and brown. To serve, scoop up with a pancake turner (keeping crusty part on top), pile on large plate and cover with whipped cream and a sprinkling of the chopped nuts, or make 16 individual servings.

If you put a frozen fowl in the oven directly from the freezer, be sure to allow plenty of time to cook it thoroughly. The process may be speeded somewhat by wrapping the fowl in heavy foil, shiny side in, and using 425 F.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 25 (INS)—Gogi Grant's glorious voice. Being idle is not Henry Ginsberg's idea of happiness, so to put the songs over, he'll produce "The Bachelor's Baby" for 20th Century-Fox, before starting his three picture contract with Rock Hudson for their independent company. "The Bachelor's Baby" is by Gwen Davenport, author of "Sitting Pretty" which introduced Clifton Webb in the character of Mr. Belvedere. Doubleday brings out the book in January, which is of course an out-and-out comedy, and Henry expects to have his picture made before that time.

He would like to get Cary Grant if Cary has any free time. Warner Brothers has owned Max Reinhardt's famous play, "The Miracle," for over 25 years. Ever so often it has been taken off the shelf, dusted and read, and then put back. Now the property is hot again with plans to have it made with frozen funds in Spain. I saw "The Miracle" when it opened many years ago at the Century Theatre in New York with lovely Lady Diana Manners as the Madonna.

When Reinhardt left his castle, Leopoldsdorfer, in Salzburg, and came to Hollywood to help Jack Warner produce the Shakespearean play "Midsummer Night's Dream" in 1933, there was much talk then about "The Miracle." But, for some reason, the picture version was never made and was permitted to lie dormant all these years.

There's entertainment plus in Warner Bros.' version of "The Helen Morgan Story," a true picture of the gliding, daring days of the 20's. The musical score is delightful, bringing back many song hits of those mad days. Ann Blythe gives the best performance of her career for the time the innocent Helen reaches New York to the day she becomes an alcoholic. A great job was done of dub-

Talked to Rossano Brazzi, who arrived Wednesday and started his tests and fittings for "South Pacific." The company leaves Aug. 14 for Honolulu where the picture will be filmed.

What's this? Russell Birdwell is spending his weekends as a fry cook in a small restaurant in Blythe, California. He says it's a relaxing experience.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Donovan Tosses 4-Hitter At Yanks, Chicago Wins, 6-2

Chisox Hurler Clouts Homer, Bags 10th Win

Pale Hose Defeat Shantz In Rubber Contest Of Series

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Dick Donovan pitched a four-hitter and hit a four-bagger as the Chicago White Sox captured the rubber of the three-game series from New York 6-2 today to narrow the Yankees' first place margin to three and a half games.

The 29-year-old right-hander, who twice before had been shelled out in the ninth inning by the Yankees after hurling shutout ball, finished strong this time. He retired the last nine batters after the Yankees had ganged up on him for their two runs in the seventh and recorded his 10th triumph against three losses.

The battling White Sox collected eight hits, seven of them against Bobby Shantz, who suffered his third defeat of the season. Shantz, who had beaten the White Sox three times in four previous decisions, thus failed for the fifth successive time to get his 10th victory.

Donovan, who hurled a one-hitter against Boston in his last outing—his second one-hitter of the season—had another one-hitter going into the seventh inning. But a triple by Mickey Mantle and singles by Harry Simpson and Hank Bauer, sandwiched around a walk to Yogi Berra, gave the Yankees two runs and ended any dreams of a third one-hitter for the tall, curve-baller from Quincy, Mass.

Rookie outfielder Jim Landis, only Chicagoan to get two hits, ignited the first two run-scoring sessions for the White Sox. After a scoreless three innings, he singled in the fourth, came around to third on a single by Walt Drogo and crossed the plate when Jerry Coleman fumbled Luis Aparicio's slow hopper to third.

In the sixth, Landis again singled, raced to third on Larry Doby's double and scored on Drogo's sacrifice fly. Aparicio's infield hit sent Doby home to give the White Sox a 3-0 lead. Donovan's home run, into the right field stands, made it 4-0 in the top of the seventh.

Chicago got its last two runs in the ninth.

Mike McCormick, Giants' Rookie, Beats Cubs, 5-2

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Mike McCormick, New York's 16-year-old, $65,000 bonus lefthander, gained his first major league victory today as the Giants defeated Chicago 5-2 to salvage the finale of the three-game series from the Cubs.

An eighth-inning home run by Daryl Spencer with a mate aboard, his ninth of the season, was the 100th by the Giants, giving them 100 or more for the 12th straight season.

McCormick needed help. Veteran Marvin Grissom took over in the ninth with two on and one out, and collared Dale Long, a pinch batter, and Bob Speake to end the game—New York's only victory of the three match series.

Moe Drabowsky, another bonus boy, was the loser, suffering his ninth reverse.

Baltimore Shuts Out Tigers, 3-0

Johnson Is Victor, Lary Loses 13th

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Connie Johnson's air-tight pitching led the Baltimore Orioles to a solid 3-0 shutout over the Detroit Tigers today. Billy Goodman, Billy Gardner and Willy Miranda backed up the lanky hurler with two hits each to prevent the Tigers from sweeping the three-game series.

Johnson, in winning his eighth game against six defeats, did not permit a runner to advance beyond first until the ninth when Bill Tuttle finally made it as far as second. Johnson struck out six and walked three.

He had a two-hitter going until the 9th, when the Tigers collected their last three. However, one of these was credited to Charley Maxwell when his potential doubleplay bouncer hit Reno Bertoia between first and second base for the second out.

Frank Lary, who went the first 5 innings for Detroit and gave up all Baltimore runs, was charged with his 13th defeat against only 4 victories.

Gus Triandos knocked in two of the Oriole runs with a first-inning single and a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

Baltimore's first - inning run came when Gardner singled, Boyd was hit by a pitch and Triandos singled to center with two away to score Boyd from second.

In the fifth, the Orioles scored again when Gardner doubled with one out and was singled home by Boyd. Goodman then singled, Tito Francona was hit with a pitch, Tito smacked the bases and Triandos smacked a long sacrifice fly.

The shutout was Johnson's third of the year and brought the Orioles to within 2 games of the Tigers in the battle for fifth place in the American League.

The first 1-0 score of the season was recorded in the Dapper Dan Little League yesterday when the Senators edged the Braves at Allegany Field in an Abrams Division tilt. Fifty-seven games have been played this season.

Ronnie Manges, Senators' hurler, yielded two hits, both bunt singles, failed to issue a walk and struck out 12.

Marty O'Toole struck out ten of the Senators, gave up only two hits and did not walk a batter. Sloan had both hits credited to the Braves while Alan Kaplon belted a triple for the Senators. Miller of the Senators and Madden of the Braves starred afield.

In a Dan Division game at East Side Field, the Red Sox clobbered the Dodgers by the score of 24-2.

Colin Smith held the Dodgers to four hits, struck out eight and slammed two homers, a double and single. Richard Robinson collected four hits, Jimmy Graham and Del Proudfoot had three hits each and Harold Hardinger and Jim Willis had a pair of bingles apiece. ## 99 To Compete In Golf Meet At Kingwood

Tri-State Tourney Will Start Today

Charles S. Catherman, Jr., of the Cumberland Country Club will be competing in the Tri-State Amateur Golf Tournament today at Kingwood for the fifth consecutive year. Other CCC players listed among the entries are Orville W. "Stony" Jackson, Clifton Van Roy and George Petras.

KINGWOOD, W. Va., July 25 (AP)—Defending champion Maury Bailey of Baltimore heads a field of 98 entries in the ninth annual Tri-State-Amateur Golf Tournament slated to start tomorrow at the Preston Country Club.

The 72-hole invitational medal play event will last three days with the 36-hole finals coming on Sunday. The field will be cut to the low 30 scorers and ties for the finals.

Bailey edged out 1955 champion Kermit Hutchison of Charleston in last year's abbreviated tournament. A heavy rain storm washed out the opening day of play and forced tourney officials to trim the event to 54 holes.

Other top amateurs, who are entered, include:

Evo Petri of Wheeling, a two-time tournament winner; Jennings Randolph Jr. of Washington, D. C., a member of the George Washington University golf team who won the Southern Conference championship, and Lewis Staples of Martinsburg, former winner of the Los Angeles City Open.

Club professional Reggie Spencer, former West Virginia University golf team captain, said the par 72, 6,600-yard course was in excellent condition.

Mentally defective children are destroyed by many primitive peoples. It was not until the 16th century that the civilized workers sought methods to train and care for the feeble-minded.

Clemente, 23, who batted .311 last season, has complained of a "sore back" this year. He said:

"It hurts when I swing and no one can seem to find what the trouble is."

"I will try to play this season out, then rest for a while. Then I will play some winter baseball and if my back still hurts I'll quit."

Clemente's home is in Carolina, Puerto Rico.

MILWAUKEE, July 25 (AP)—Philadelphia's Robin Roberts broke a faltering string of seven straight losses and hurled his first victory since June 6 today as the Phils beat the league leading Milwaukee Braves, 5-3.

Romney Wins Over Sports Shoppe, 5-3

The Romney Independents won a well played 5-3 game from the Sports Shoppe of the Cumberland Rec Softball League yesterday at Romney.

A double by Clyde Green, Romney High School coach, in the fifth inning, sent over the two runs that decided the game.

Wayne Holly, Sports Shoppe third baseman, was the only player with more than one hit. He pounded a triple and single.

Outfielders Pat McNally and Reggie Meade and Infielder Holly starred afield. Score:

Clemente May Quit At End Of Season

CINCINNATI, O., July 25 (INS)—Roberto Clemente, Pittsburgh Pirates outfielder, said today that he may quit baseball at the end of the season because of a back injury.

Clemente, 23, who batted .311 last season, has complained of a "sore back" this year. He said:

"It hurts when I swing and no one can seem to find what the trouble is."

"I will try to play this season out, then rest for a while. Then I will play some winter baseball and if my back still hurts I'll quit."

Clemente's home is in Carolina, Puerto Rico.

help from Dick Farrell to get the last man out. He gave up nine hits in 8 2-3 innings.

One of them was Hank Aaron's 30th home run of the season, in the fourth inning, and was the 29th home run ball the great right-hander served this season. Both marks are tops in the league this season.

Milwaukee's Red Schoendienst also continued his string of hits in consecutive games, running it to 22 with a run-scoring single in the fifth. High mark for the league this season is 24 by Wally Moon of St. Louis.

Warren Spahn, lifted for a pinch hitter in the fifth, was the loser today. His record now is 10-8.

A crowd of 37,777—including 28,548 paid and the rest Knottolers and ladies' day fans—jammed County Stadium for the afternoon contest in pleasant, sunny weather.

The Phils jumped off to a lead in the third inning when Chuck Harmon singled Roy Smalley home. Smalley had opened the inning with a single and advanced on Roberts' sacrifice.

The Braves pulled even in the fourth when Aaron hit a Roberts' pitch over the left field fence.

Porterfield Goes Route For Boston

BOSTON, July 25 (AP)—Bob Porterfield, elevated from his bullpen station, pitched Boston to a six-hit, 5-3 victory over Kansas City today for his first complete performance in more than a year.

The big right-hander struck out four and walked only one in gaining his second triumph of the season. He has lost three.

Tom Gorman was the victim. Porterfield, the veteran who had a miserable 3-12 season in '56, weakened to give a two-run single to Billy Martin in the fourth inning and a solo homer to Lou Skizas, his 14th, in the ninth.

Ted Williams collected the third straight single off Gorman in the first inning to start the Red Sox rolling.

Fishing Conditions Are Reported Good

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 25 (AP)—Except for some river reported muddy or black, West Virginia fishermen can expect good prospects this weekend.

The Conservation Department's weekly stream report said that the Eastern Panhandle reported low or normal and clear streams. Low and clear or normal and clear conditions were also listed for Calhoun, Braxton, Clay, Raleigh, Summers, Putnam and Wayne counties.

Bluestone Dam reported good fishing conditions, as usual, and Wood County reported normal and clear and slightly milky streams, as did Pocahontas and Greenbrier. The New River in Fayette County, all streams except Clear Fork and Panther Creek in McDowell County, the Mud River in Lincoln County, the Guyan in Logan County and the Big Coal in Boone were all muddy or black.</

Tommy Bolt Fires Record-Breaking 64 At Baltimore

Don Fairchild Shoots 67 In Eastern Open

Holds Second Place In Opening Round; Three Chalk Up 69s

By GEORGE BOWEN
BALTIMORE, July 25 (P)—Terrible tempered Tommy Bolt made a mockery of Mount Pleasant's par 72 today, with a searing course record 64 and the first round lead in the Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

The 38-year-old Oklahoma native, now doing his golfing out of Los Angeles, clipped the previous record of 65 set by Clayton Heafner and Henry Ransom in the 1950 tournament.

Bolt, famous for throwing his clubs in tantrums, had no reason to be mad at them this afternoon, particularly his putter.

They made his birdies on eight of the 18 holes and he serenely equalled par on the other 10.

Bolt, who played without a seven iron because "I left it wrapped around a tree at Toledo," used a six iron to chip into the second hole from 35 feet out for his first birdie three.

Then he left his putter take over, sinking putts ranging from 18 to 20 feet. He had one easy one of 20 inches on the par four, 391-yard fourth hole.

The thunder of Bolt's shots overshadowed a whale of a 67 which put 27-year-old Don Fairchild of Casey, Ill., in the runner-up spot among the 160 competitors in the 72-hole tournament for $20,000.

Despite poison ivy covering both his arms, Fairchild piled up seven birdies, five of them on six holes with a string of threes on the first nine. Two more putts of four feet for birdies stopped tantalizingly on the lips of the 11th and 12th holes.

Fairchild lost two of his par advantages on the second and 10th holes.

Scores of 69 were good enough only for third place, including Doug Ford, the tour's leading money winner from Mahopac, N. Y., Bill Casper of Bonita, Calif., Pat Schwab of Dayton, Ohio, and Wesley Ellis of Riverdale, N. J.

Ted Grabs Lead

Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox is leading Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees in the American League batting championship race by .3611 to .3607. Williams had one hit in two times at bat yesterday. His total is 104 hits in 288 at bats. Mantle made one hit in four trips yesterday. His hit total of 110 in 305 official trips.

Mixed-Up Sportsman

OKLAHOMA CITY (P)—Wayne Mackey, reporter for the Oklahoma City Times, is about ready to give up golf and take up fishing and hunting.

While playing golf recently, he took a hefty swing with a No. 7 iron and bowled over a startled jackrabbit. On a previous round, his ball fell in a pond and he bagged a catfish with a No. 5 iron.

Cardinals Beat Brooklyn, 3-2, Take 2nd Place

ST. LOUIS, July 25 (P)—The St. Louis Cardinals behind a six-hitter by leg-kicking Herm Wehmeier made it two straight over old nemesis Don Newcombe with a 3-2 victory over Brooklyn tonight, moving them past the Dodgers into second place a half game from the top.

The Red Birds pushed over the winning run in the last of the eighth. Alvin Dark opened with a single and reached third on Stan Musial's single.

Brooklyn Manager Walter Alston then inserted his relief ace, Clem Labine, but Wally Moon sent a sacrifice fly to Sandy Amoros scoring Dark.

Wehmeier, staging a comeback, pitched his first complete game since opening day.

Newcombe had won 12 straight over St. Louis in a six-year period before losing to Sad Sam Jones and the Cards last week in Brooklyn.

Tonight's victory was the first for the Cardinals over the right-hander at Busch Stadium since May 19, 1951.

Wehmeier's victory, his best effort in several weeks, evened his season mark at 4-4. Newcombe, a 27-game winner last year, now stands 9-8. He's 4-2 against St. Louis.

Redlegs Whip Pirates, 9-1

CINCINNATI, July 25 (P)—Art Fowler, only recently elevated to a starting pitcher role for this season, stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates in all but one inning tonight as the Cincinnati Redlegs clubbed a 9-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The victory made Fowler's record read 2-0. It was his first complete game of the season. He allowed seven hits.

The 34-year-old righthander was helped along by homers by Ed Bailey and Gus Bell.

The Pirates didn't get to Fowler for a run until the eighth which gave Redleg hurlers a string of 16 consecutive shutout innings—the longest skein of that sort they had accumulated this season.

The Reds picked on Ronnie Kline in four consecutive innings for seven of their runs.

They started it off with a pair of tallies in the second with Fowler driving in both of them.

Elliott Belts Two Home Runs In ODC Victory

Elks Capture Pair From Ritter's Club

Pete Elliott drove in five runs with a pair of circuit wallops as the first place Outdoor Club skunked the Knights of Columbus, 11-0, in a Rocking Chair Softball League game yesterday at Fort Hill Field.

Elliott hit his first round-tripper with two aboard in the first frame and his second four-master came with one on in the third. "Pete" increased his season total to four homers.

Jim Eckard collected three hits and George Evans, Vern Penner and Glenn Kauffman had two hits each for the league leaders.

One of Evans' belts was a triple. The win was Kauffman's sixth against a single loss. Charles Snider, Don Palmer and John S. Kegg accounted for the Knights' three hits.

The runner-up B.P.O. Elks took both ends of a doubleheader from Ritter's Social Club at Post Field by scores of 5-3 and 6-2, the nightcap being limited to five innings.

In the opener Dick Klavuhn notched his 10th win of the season. Bob Price of the Elks smacked a two-bagger and Bob Miles slammed a triple. Price and Johnny Cox of the Elks and Charles O'Brien and John Yaider of Ritter's stood out afield.

Bill Underdonk made his season record 3-1 by copping the nightcap. Klavuhn sparked the attack with a double and two singles. Price had two hits and "Pooch" Orndorff smashed a triple. Bill Cook and Tom Morgan accounted for four of Ritter's five hits. The fielding stars were Paul Roeder in right for the Elks and Tom Morgan in left for the losers.

Celanese came up with four runs in the final inning to edge the Loyal Order of Moose at Celanese Field, 5-4.

Three pinch hitters, Dick Eaton, Walker Duval and Floyd Foster, walked to start the rally. Hits by Jack Kauffman and Bob.

Two Aces, No Luck

ROANOKE, Va. (P)—E. H. (Gene) Taylor made two holes in one on the Hidden Valley golf course here, but his timing was bad.

When he aced the 130-yard seventh hole he wasn't a member of the club and therefore not eligible for a pot the members build up for the person scoring an ace.

He joined. Then another club member scored an ace and cleaned out the pot before Taylor repeated his hole-in-one on the 7th.

Henry, Kean Rack Up Hot Stove Wins

Kiwanis Victor, 6-1; Jaycees Score, 5-4

GARY HENRY hurled the Kiwanis Club into third place in the Hot Stove League last night when he turned back the Lions Club at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 6-1 and made his record for the season 5-0.

Henry struck out 17 and gave up only three hits—a double by Davis and singles by Ronnie Evans and Whitman. Evans, who went the route for the Lions, yielded seven hits and whiffed 16.

The win gave Kiwanis a percentage of .643 to B'nai B'rith's .625 and dropped the latter into fourth place.

"Butch" Bosley slammed a two-run homer, Mike Hadra collected two hits and Charley Boone rapped a double for the Kiwanians.

Timely hits by Mike Aaron and Frank Lambert in the 7th inning produced the tying and winning runs as the Jaycees edged the Exchange Club in the opener of the Penn Avenue twin bill by the score of 5-4.

Trailing 4-3 going into the final frame the Jaycees scored twice to win on Larry McKay's walk, Aaron's triple, a pass to Allan Stevenson and Lambert's hit to right field.

Clarence Kean, Jaycees' twirler, fanned ten, hit one batsman and failed to issue a free ticket. Jimmy Bittner, Frank Lambert and Aaron each hit safely twice for the Jaycees. Bittner batted in three runs and Aaron banged a three-bagger. Jimmy Siders, Evan Smith and Carl Puffenberger hit safely twice for the losers. One of Puffenberger's belts was a homer and Smith walloped a three-bagger. Scores:

Man Commits Crime After Leaving Court

Gets Automobile With Bad Check

KEYSER — A 26-year-old Mt. Storm man whose probation was continued Tuesday morning when he made a favorable impression upon Judge Ernest A. See in Mineral County Circuit Court is now accused of having purchased a used car from a Keyser dealer with a worthless check within hours after leaving court.

William S. Kuhn of Mt. Storm last October had pleaded guilty to two charges of passing bad checks and two forgery charges. He received an indeterminate sentence of one-to-five years in the bad check charges and two-to-ten years on the forgery.

Judge See suspended the sentences and placed Kuhn on probation with a warning to be of good character, stay out of trouble, make restitution and pay the court costs.

Tuesday morning Kuhn reported to Judge See that he has been working, had prospects of a job with a Baltimore steel company and had made payments of $35 since April.

About 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Kuhn and his father purchased a used car from the Martin Buick Company, making the downpayment with a $151 check on a Petersburg bank. After they left, Ralph Martin called the Petersburg bank and was told that Kuhn never had an account in the bank.

State Trooper Robert Noechel located the missing car with Kuhn sleeping in the front seat and placed him under arrest on a warrant sworn to by Mr. Martin. Kuhn was soon back in the Mineral County Jail awaiting a new hearing before Judge See as a violator of his probation.

Frostburg Citizens Set Pledge Days For Factory

FROSTBURG — "Back Up Your Pledge days" were set for August 19-20-21 at a citizens meeting held Wednesday evening at the city hall to discuss the possibility of securing funds to build a factory locally.

The meeting, called a week ago by Mayor Joseph James, was attended by over 60 persons, mostly women.

Charles N. Hill, chairman of the Industrial Promotion Committee, presided and spoke briefly. Also speaking concerning the proposed factory were Maurice Millberg, associated with the Cumberland Undergarment Company; Mayor James, Howard Shuman, member of the committee, and Edward J. Ryan, city attorney.

William Preston, who promoted this session, presented plans to raise the $80,000 necessary to erect the plant. All those who made pledges in 1952 will be contacted by a group of 30 women who will check with 10 to 12 pledges in the three-day period in August. Other names have been added to the list for contact.

Mayor James pointed out that the business men should not be asked to carry the entire load, that any family where both husband and wife work should be able to purchase several shares of stock which will be redeemed during the 20-year period and will get a specified interest annually. He also said that many couples who work stand to gain as much from the factory as a business firm in increased property values and more security in their own jobs.

Ryan stated that bringing the factory to the community is like planning to buy a new automobile. The question being "Can I afford it". The final answer is up to the people of the entire community, not just a few, he said.

Preston also pointed out in his talk that publicity is needed and the plan must be brought to the attention of every person in Frostburg. He is planning on asking business houses to donate newspaper advertising and plans to have representatives present the plan at every public meeting of groups in Frostburg before August 19.

Paper Mill Begins Work On Installation

$2,340,000 Bleach Operation Starts

Construction of a new bleaching installation at an estimated cost of $2,340,000 is underway at the Luke Mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company as part of a mill's $50,000,000 expansion program.

The installation consists of a chlorine dioxide generating plant and a chlorine dioxide bleaching stage, both aimed at production of considerably higher brightness pulp than is produced now.

Presently the mill uses calcium hypochloride, caustic soda and chlorine to bleach pulp used in the manufacture of paper, and the generating plant will supply chlorine dioxide as an additional bleaching agent, the industry's newest, to the system.

The generating plant, to cost an estimated $340,000, will have a daily capacity of five tons of chlorine dioxide, enough to supply the needs of an expanded mill in 1961.

Equipment for the generating plant includes reactors, pumps, tanks, absorber, refrigerating plant and piping as well as a control laboratory and instrumentation.

The bleaching stage, to cost about $2,000,000, calls for the installation of a hypo washer, a chlorine dioxide washer, a down-flow retention tower, mixers, pumps and other equipment, including stock storage.

This system, together with the existing three continuous bleaching stages, will enable the plant to bleach continuously 330 to 350 tons of high brightness pulp a day.

Design is being done by the company's New York engineering office and site preparation and construction by Tidewater-Hazelwood, contractor for the mill's expansion program.

South Branch Cattle Die Near Railroad

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — At least 15 cattle have died and 50 to 60 are sick from arsenic poisoning along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad right of way in the South Branch Valley.

The report from the state laboratory in Charleston showed evidences of arsenic in the cattle's stomachs in quantities sufficient to cause death. The symptoms of arsenic poisoning are evident in the cattle now ill.

Observers report cattle were affected all along the length of the South Branch Valley from the Trough to the Petersburg Gap. Only those cattle with access to the B&O right of way have been affected apparently by the weed killing spray used on the right of way. Dairy farmers have segregated milk cattle to prevent contamination of the milk supply. Some of the stock cattle have been reported losing over 200 pounds in weight in the past two weeks.

Stockmen pointed out that in the hot dry weather the cattle apparently seek the salty taste of the dried spray. During the past several years flame was used to control weeds instead of spray.

Westernport Council Endorses Policewomen

WESTERNPORT — The Mayor and Council Wednesday night voted to hire two uniformed policewomen on a parttime basis for the direction of traffic during the coming school term.

The policewomen will direct traffic between the hours of 8 and 9 a.m., for an hour during the noon recess time, and from 3 to 4 p.m. each school day. The pay rate was set at $1.05 an hour.

Police Commissioner Leo Herbert said the cost of uniforms would be $161.80 each. Qualifications for the post were that applicants must be at least 25 years of age, be of good health and have good vision.

Applications for the two posts will be received at the city clerk's office up to Tuesday, August 6.

Considerable time was spent in reviewing the water situation pertaining to residents of the Oak View-Greene's Addition area. Use of water in that area has been greatly curtailed, both because of lack of rain and the physical aspects of the location.

It was ordered that a six-inch check valve be installed on the present water line at Baughman Street on Oak View, and that preparations be made for the installation of a six-inch water line from Main Street and Oak View Drive, up the hill to Howard and Philos avenues, a distance of approximately 754 feet. Cost of the work was placed at around $1,000. A surveyor will be employed to lay out the most advantageous placement of the line.

Mayor Okey E. Michael reported that the water in the Westernport Hill reservoir was approximately six feet below the crest of the basin, with about 11 feet of water in the storage pond. The mayor also said the reservoir needed some repair work since there was at least one large crack through which water was seeping.

The installation of water meters as a conservation measure was discussed, especially in commercial places. The matter will be discussed further at the next council meeting.

A delegation from Greene's Addition appeared to inquire as to the plan for Westernport providing water to the Horse Rock Addition, development planned by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The group was composed of Nick Lupis, Richard Cline, Mrs. Carl Fortney, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riley and Richard Stakem. Cline also presented a request that the town scrape an unpaved section of street in that sector.

Mayor Michael informed council that the laying of a sewer line on Foundry Alley will begin the second week in August. He also stated that $10.50 had been collected last week from the sale of garbage cards, bringing the total for the year to $5,106. Parking meter receipts for the week were reported at $95.95.

An application for the position of parttime city clerk was made by Mrs. Norma Springer, but no action was taken on the matter. Ray L. Wilt, commissioner of public property, informed council that a building should be erected for the storage of pipe, and that he was ordered to have a sketch drawn up for presentation at the next meeting.

Bernard Davison requested permission to remove the retaining wall, sidewalk and curb in front of his home on Vine Street so that he might construct a garage. Permission was granted with the stipulation that the work be done at no cost to the town, and that at least one of the adjoining property owners would have similar work done.

Invitations were ordered sent to the mayors and councils of adjoining towns, to the Upper Potomac River Commission, Allegany County Board of Commissioners, State Health Department and Allegany County Health Department, inviting them to inspect the new town filtration plant on Sunday, August 4.

Summer Story Telling Hour Resumes Again

WESTERNPORT — The tenth annual summer story telling hour for the children of the Tri-Towns opened Wednesday afternoon at the Westernport Library, directed by Mrs. Frances Dayton, president of the Westernport and Luke Civic Club, which sponsors the Westernport Library. Forty-six attended.

Mrs. Dayton told the first installment of a serial story "Copper-Toed Boots" by Marguerite de Angeli. It will be continued each week.

Plans were made for the sessions which will include the drawing of a child's name each week for a prize.

In order to encourage reading by the children and to stimulate circulation of library books a large picture of a leopard without spots will be pinned upon the wall. For every three books taken from the library and read by a child, it may cover a spot with his name. The child reading the greatest number of books at the end of the period will receive a prize.

Programs each week will be varied by selected story tellers and will include motion songs and simple games.

Mrs. Paul McCoy, chairman of the Library committee, will be in charge of the story hour next week. Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas is the librarian.

Garrett County Women Push Plans For Fair

OAKLAND — Mrs. Charles Wilt, superintendent of the Women's Department for the Garrett County Fair, held a meeting of her department heads, Monday evening, called by the president, H. G. Gortner, and Claude Wagner, Sr., manager, in the Fire Hall here.

At this time it was pointed out that each department head had entry blanks to be given to those interested. Those are: Mrs. James Glatfelter, Accident, clothing; Mrs. Earle Glatfelter, McHenry, foods; Mrs. Donald MacMurray, Mountain Lake Park, arts and crafts; Mrs. Harry Friend, 23 Water St., Oakland, flowers and plants. It was suggested that each home-maker club fair chairman receive copies for those in her club and area.

For those who find it impossible to contact any of these folks, the information could be put on a paper and sent to Mr. Claude Wagner, Sr., McHenry, Maryland, by August 1 in order to plan for space needed. Entries must be on the fair grounds by 7 p. m. August 12.

From the fair book, these headings are to be used: Division, class, section, description of article, to list the exhibits, signed with the address and date. A similar listing would be helpful when making entries. Some discussion was had on receiving entries, and judging, as well as problems of returning entries. It was suggested that there be sufficient help to keep accurate records on those three days.

The group of the Women's Department heads plan a conference with the heads of similar departments in Cumberland.

B&O Railroader Retires After 53 Years' Service

A familiar figure to passengers who have ridden the Washington and Annapolis Railroad, the eastbound Speedliner, made his last run as a conductor for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Wednesday afternoon.

Retiring after 53 years of train service is Daniel W. "Webb" Keyser of Harpers Ferry.

On hand to bid him farewell was W. E. DuVall, Oldtown Road, who worked with him as a brakeman when he was a conductor in freight service. DuVall who was observing his 39th anniversary as a B&O trainman, presented him with an engraved cigarette lighter and railroad mementos.

Keyser began his employment with the railroad on November 3, 1905, as a brakeman on the Cumberland Division. He was promoted to freight conductor on October 25, 1910, and to passenger conductor on August 15, 1939. During his freight service he worked trains between Brunswick and Keyser. His most recent passenger turns have been the westbound No. 29 express from Baltimore to Cumberland, and No. 22, the Speedliner, eastbound from here to Baltimore.

Keyser is a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Masonic order.

Turks Insist They're Not So 'Different'

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Today it's time to talk turkey. The country that is, not the fowl.

It's on account of a new booklet called "Talking Turkey," which must be the gayest official publication of all time.

Primarily it's a picture book with only the briefest of captions—an attempt, and a successful one, to knock down misconceptions Americans have about Turkey.

Mr. Smith is going to visit Turkey. On one page is what he believes or has been told about that historical old country. On the facing page is a picture of what he may actually see.

For instance, there's this caption: "Watch out for traffic: You might be stepped on by a camel." The picture shows a busy bridge over the Golden Horn in Istanbul, with cars, trucks, busses and pedestrians hurrying along. No camels.

Another caption: "He can hardly wait to see the tents they live in." Opposite is a shot of fine apartments, including one that is impressively modernistic.

Mr. Smith plans to be careful about his clothes because the Turks might "resent too much Americanism." Here's a Turkish mama, and with her are two boys proudly strutting along in their new cowboy suits.

But it's the Turkish women that seem to confuse us most.

Caption: "Hidden behind a veil and confined to the harem..." Picture: A lovely doll is standing on a float sponsored by an insurance firm and all that hides her is a brief bathing suit. She's Ayten Akyol, Turkey's Miss Universe candidate in 1953.

Caption: "Everything is resigned to a quiet evening at home." Picture: A couple of Turkish belly dancers are shaking away in an Istanbul night club.

Most government releases, while they may be informative, tend to be verbose and often they are dull. Rarely are they funny, at least intentionally.

How come this welcome change? A call to Nuri Eren, director of the Turkish Information Office in New York, supplied the answer.

First, Eren was dismayed because so many of us have so many erroneous ideas about his country. "Everywhere I traveled, every time I look at cartoons..."

Second, he was eager to make his appeal as man to man, or as a man to woman—not as Turk to American.

"In this country a man from Chicago might meet a man from Boston. One might prefer scotch and the other tea, but no one would think they were different. They just have different habits."

Well, rumor and pictures help bridge this international gap, as Eren has proved by his booklet, sent out to 2,000 government officials, editors and congressmen.

Incidentally, he managed to keep the pace to the end. His last caption says: "And of course the national bird is the Turkey."

Straphangers' Delight

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—An air-conditioned subway train being tested is drawing rave notices from riders. More than 150 straphangers who rode the train last week have written congratulatory letters to the Transit Authority. A test train tried out last year proved unsuitable. The temperature dropped, but the humidity rose considerably.

There are more than 15,000 different kinds of wine in the world.

Teachers Try To Catch Up With Air-Minded Pupils

OXFORD, Ohio, July 25 (AP)—The kids have forced their school teachers to learn about aviation, and some 300 teachers from 42 states, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands were here today doing something about it.

"It was getting a little rough when my kindergarten pupils knew more about airplanes than I did," said one of the teachers. They are learning about them at the National Aviation Education Workshop being held at Miami University.

"Last year, I supervised a hobby group of boys between the ages of 10 and 12," Miss Ann Horner, 23, Minneapolis, Minn., told a reporter. "When they found out I didn't know anything about aviation, they were all shook up."

The workshop here, under sponsorship of the Civil Air Patrol, is intended to give the teachers enough knowledge about flying to talk on the same level with their students.

Although the six-hour-credit course offers all phases of aviation, Miami University officials were amazed when 150 of the teachers signed immediately for actual flying training.

Instructors believe they will be able to teach 75 of their students to fly before the course ends.

Three of the teachers have soloed already.

Mrs. Minnie Flippin, a teacher from Coleman, Tex., however, topped all the others in enthusiasm for the "wild blue yonder." She took the $2,500 she had saved for an automobile, and plunked it down for a used plane.

Famine Threatens

ACCRA, July 25 (AP)—This capital and other main centers in Ghana were threatened with famine this week by a strike of motor drivers who normally bring food from the interior. They are striking against new road laws that increase their liability for accidents.

Air Pollution Reports Sent To Industries

New Tube Blowing Schedule Suggested

Copies of reports from a recent air pollution survey made at the request of the City of Cumberland have been sent to affected firms by Mayor Roy W. Eves. The reports list recommendations made by Resources Research Inc., a Washington, D.C. firm of consulting engineers, as a result of fly ash complaints received by the city. A major recommendation was that plant engineers do not "blow their stacks" at night, when dew is being formed. Results have also been sent to the spokesman for a group of Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers, who complained the finish on their cars was being damaged by fly ash they claimed came from the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company.

PE Is Complying

Recommendations for the Potomac Edison Company's River plant were sent to Henry W. Price, district manager. Mayor Eves said he has been informed that the plant has already placed into effect some of the suggestions made by the engineering firm.

At the PE plant, precipitation cyclones are used in series with electrostatic precipitators to collect fly ash from the coal burning boilers.

The precipitators, the report showed, were overhauled about six months ago and have a dust recovery efficiency of 92 per cent—the general level of efficiency for installations of that type.

The company will make some changes in the plant's equipment, designed to further improve dust recovery, in the near future, consulting engineers were told. Boilers at the River plant burn 31,200 pounds of coal an hour and operate under 825 pounds of pressure and a temperature of 825 degrees Fahrenheit at the turbines.

Doesn't Catch All

The ash in the coal burned at the PE plant averages 12.5 per cent ash and the boilers which are used five days a week are served by steel stacks about 150 feet high.

The plant has an old section which is operated only once a year to make sure it is in satisfactory standby condition.

It was pointed out that it is necessary in the operation of the plant boilers to periodically remove soot from the fire side of the tubes.

This is accomplished by blowing a stream of air or steam through the tubes to dislodge the soot. While this is being done, part of the dislodged dust and soot is not caught by dust collecting equipment and escapes up the stack.

Suggest New Schedule

Both the Potomac Edison Company and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, the report said, blow boiler tubes for about 15 minutes three times a day, at eight hour intervals.

The engineers suggested that the time for blowing tubes be changed to 8 a. m., 4 p. m. and 12 p. m. to avoid as far as possible, the discharge of soot into the air when dew is formed and wind velocities are low.

This timing, the report said, might avoid deposits of soot on cars when dew has formed on them.

Check Kelly Plant

The Kelly-Springfield Tire Company report, forwarded to Edmund S. Burke, president, also indicates the value of another schedule for blowing tubes.

The plant boilers burn 160 tons of coal, with an ash content varying between 8 and 8.9 per cent, each day.

The dust collecting equipment at the Kelly is of a mechanical type.

The plant has two pulverized coal boilers, equipped with a 250-foot stack, and tubes in the plant were blown at 11:45 a. m., 6 p. m. and 3-4 a. m. when the survey was made early this month.

The Resources Research report showed plant officials indicated it would be a simple matter to change the schedule of blowing tubes to avoid deposits of soot during night hours, when dew is formed.

City Gets Complaints

In advising plant officials of the results of the study, Mayor Eves pointed out that due to the improvement in air pollution here and in the interest of economy, the city several years ago discontinued a full-time air pollution department and decided to employ consultants whenever the need arose.

He pointed out that in recent months, delegations of Kelly employees made complaints on damage to their cars from fly ash, and that the study came as a result of these and smoke complaints from other sources.

Equity Suits Filed

Two equity suits have been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bills of complaint were titled Rose Catherine Mills vs. James Halbert Mills and Gladys H. Andrews vs. Thomas A. Andrews.

Next on the program will be the installation of officers by Mr. Cope and Mrs. John V. Lindner, and the inaugural address by the new president, George Millenson.

John R. Singer, past district governor, Irwin, Pa., and Steve Trosan, district governor, Johnstown, Pa., will address the group and short talks will be delivered by Mr. and Mrs. L. Herbert Finkhor, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Benediction by Mr. Cope will conclude the program.

It is expected that about 35 members and guests will attend tomorrow night's program.

Ort with a total of more than 50 years' experience in health, welfare, youth, civic and fraternal organizations. They are William R. Carscaden, local attorney; Edmund S. ## Md. Democrats Find Unity Is Biggest Need

5,000 Answer Questionnaire

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Five thousand Maryland Democrats prefer good candidates to good issues by a margin of at least 7-to-1.

And they think the trouble with the Maryland Democratic party is too much fighting among Maryland Democrats.

These were among the conclusions J. Millard Tawes drew from answers to questionnaires sent out several months ago to party office holders and workers throughout the state.

Tawes, the State Comptroller and candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, called his 19-question quiz the "first attempt in Maryland, or any place else, to engage in a searching, no-holds-barred, self-examination of a political organization."

He tabulated the results, had them printed in booklet form and will mail them out to party members from his Baltimore headquarters tomorrow.

The Results

Here are the results of the balloting on the more important questions:

1. Rate the following in order of their importance to a successful Democratic organization: Good candidates 44.1 per cent, party unity 21.9, a standout leader 21.8, good organization 6.2, and good issues 6.0.

2. Why did so many Maryland Democrats vote for Republicans in the last election? Party factionalism 45.5, Eisenhower coattails 28.1, lack of effort by party workers 10.3, agreed with Republican stand on issues 8.2, and preference for Republican senatorial candidate 7.9.

3. What is your chief criticism of the Democratic Party in Maryland today? Lack of unity 43.7, lack of leadership 33.4, lack of new blood 17.7, and lack of issues 5.2.

4. In an election, what is more important to you? The candidates 63.2, the issues 17.4, both 19.4.

Taxes A Big Issue

5. Rate issues in order of importance. Taxation 44.5, cost of living 16.1, schools 15.4, health and welfare 6.8, industrial development 4.7, civil rights 4.0, conservation 2.7, agriculture 2.1, labor legislation 1.9, roads 1.7, and housing 0.1.

6. Do you feel that you are influenced significantly by what the candidates say during a campaign? Yes 46.6, No 53.4.

7. Which overall outlook to you prefer in the Maryland state government? Progressive 54.5, middle of the road 28.6, conservative 16.9.

8. Rate these qualifications in order of importance in a candidate for political office: Honesty 72.85, good administrator 11.30, previous government experience 4.30, business experience 3.94, pleasing personality 3.85 and good politician 3.76.

By a margin of 53.1 to 46.9, the party members decided women are not playing an important enough part in party activities.

Wilson Appeals Unemployment Ruling

Luther C. Wilson, through Attorney Albert A. Doub, has filed an appeal in Allegany County Circuit Court from a decision of the Board of Appeals concerning an Unemployment Insurance Law case.

In his petition, Wilson contended that the uncontradicted evidence in this case shows that the claimant was available for work within the terms of Section 4(c) of the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law. Defendants in the case were the Cumberland Transit Company, employer, and the Department of Employment Security.

Satellite Statistics Explained

The earth satellite now being developed through the combined efforts of many American scientists is a 2 1/2 pound sphere which will be capable of traveling around the world once every 90 minutes at distances between 300 and 1,400 miles above the earth's surface.

These were a few of the facts explained by Dr. C. D. McKinney, director of research for Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, who spoke at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club.

ABL is interested in this project by assisting in the development of the third stage of the three-stage rocket which will be necessary to get the earth satellite launched in its orbit.

The rocket will weigh a total of 22,000 pounds. Dr. McKinney exhibited a model of the rocket and explained the actions as each of the three stages of the rocket separate from the satellite. He said the spring which will separate the third stage rocket from the satellite was made by a mouse trap manufacturer in York, Pa.

It is hoped that the satellite will be ready for launching by late in 1958. There are three main objectives for the development now under way, Dr. McKinney said. They are (1) to place the satellite in its orbit, (2) to prove that it is in its orbit and (3) to obtain certain scientific information from the actions of the satellite.

Three Types Of Taxes Due On July 31

Employers are being reminded that three types of taxes are due on July 31.

C. I. Fox, district director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District, which comprises Maryland and the District of Columbia, announces taxes are due on that date for the second quarter, April, May and June, 1957 from:

1. Employers who file quarterly federal tax returns, form 941. This combined return is for reporting withholding and Social Security taxes on employees for the second quarter.

2. Employers who have domestic servants such as cooks, janitors, maids, chauffeurs and other workers who perform services of a household nature are subject to Social Security taxes (form 942) if $50 or more was paid in wages in the second quarter of 1957.

3. Returns from persons liable for quarterly excise tax returns (form 720) are due on July 31, 1957. Excise taxes include retail dealers' excise taxes, excise taxes and taxes on products and commodities. Where the taxes exceed $100 a month, the depository receipt system must be used. Failure to do so will result in a civil penalty.

County Serves More Lunches In Its Schools

1,851,637 Counted In Past Year

More school lunches were served in the Allegany County public schools in the 1956-57 school year than in the previous year and a smaller percentage of them were free or at reduced rates, according to figures prepared in the office of Mrs. Gladys Miller Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias.

During the past school year some 1,851,637 lunches were served, 21,462 more than in the previous year.

The 1,851,637 were served during 177 days, which placed the daily average at 10,461 meals. The previous year only 1,830,175 meals were served but that was in 176 days, which placed the average at 10,399 or 62 fewer each day.

During 1956-57 there were 174,622 meals served free or at reduced rates. That was 9.4 per cent of the total. In the previous year 181,269 free and reduced rate meals were served. That was 9.9 per cent of the total.

In both years January was the busiest month for meals. In the past year 232,397 meals were served in 22 days. The previous year 229,984 were served in 21 days.

The monthly figures in the 1956-57 school year:

Mayor Checks On Complaints

Mayor Roy W. Eves spent part of yesterday afternoon on an inspection tour of the city.

It was not a pleasure trip, however, as he was checking up on some of the complaints which come to him each day at his office in City Hall.

The tour included Mechanic Street, the West Side, the Constitution Park area and the Hill Top Drive section.

The Mayor said that as complaints are received, they are investigated and reports issued to the proper departments.

He added that he received five complaints of dust on Mechanic Street within an hour and a half yesterday morning.

Paper Catches Fire In Waste Basket

Firemen from Central Station were called to 131 Frederick Street yesterday morning when papers in a waste basket ignited.

A match or lighted cigarette apparently was tossed into the basket, firemen said, causing the paper to catch fire. The blaze occurred in a bedroom on the second floor. Firemen received the call at 9:45 a. m.

Catholic Parish In LaVale May Be Developed

Archbishop Buys 48 Lots There

Most Rev. Francis P. Keough, Roman Catholic archbishop of Baltimore, has purchased 48 lots in the Forest Glen subdivision of LaVale for possible future development of a new Catholic parish in that rapidly growing suburban area.

A deed for the 48 lots in what is called the Forest Glen Suburban Colony to Cumberland was filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court. Archbishop Keough purchased the property from Harry B. Simpson, Cumberland real estate man, and his wife, Mrs. Minnie Vee Simpson.

Stamps on the deed indicated that the purchase price for the 48 lots along Holly and Avondale avenues just off the National Highway in the vicinity of the old State Police barracks was about $11,000.

The area is on the southeast side of Route 40 about four-and-one-half miles west of Cumberland.

Msgr. George L. Hopkins, acting secretary of Archbishop Keough, contacted in Baltimore, said negotiations for the purchase of the property were undertaken at the requests of certain Catholic families in LaVale. It was planned to obtain the property in case future growth in LaVale warrants the development of a new Catholic parish.

"We have no concrete plans for a parish plant there now," Msgr. Hopkins stated. "It may be that the growth of the area will not justify construction of a parish plant, but the property can always be sold if that should be the case," he said.

Local negotiations for purchase of the LaVale property were handled by Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Lonaconing.

Several years ago, a new Methodist church was dedicated in the Woodlawn section of LaVale. The only other church in LaVale is the Baptist church opposite the present State Police barracks, in a building which once served as a bowling alley.

Several months ago the Vestry of Emmanuel Episcopal Church approved the purchase of a lot along the south side of National Highway near Holly Avenue for the possible future development of a parish house.

$6,435 Is Bid For Equipment

The James T. Vernay Company of Baltimore submitted the apparent low bid of $6,435.90 for supplying and installing tables and chairs for the new Northeast Elementary School off Valley Road.

Flowers School Equipment Company of Richmond, Va., submitted the only other bid, a total of $6,816.66.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said he will recommend acceptance of the Vernay bid to the Allegany County Board of Education. Delivery has been promised by August 28, which would be before the new school would open for the new school year.

Included in the bid are 275 open box unit tables ranging in height between 23 and 29 inches, 380 unit chairs between 13 and 17 inches in height, and seven 30 by 60 project tables 23, 25 or 27 inches high.

The Flowers bid was lower than Vernay only in the prices for the project tables.

Former LaVale Boy Is Seriously Injured

A 12-year-old youngster who formerly lived in LaVale was seriously injured when he was hit in the head by a pitched ball in the final game of the Little League baseball season in Akron, Ohio.

John Duke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Duke, was hospitalized and required surgery by a specialist. He is showing some improvement, although he is still on the "critical" list at an Akron hospital. Young Johnny, who is a pitcher on his team, was hit by the pitcher of the opposing team while he was at bat.

The youngster was knocked unconscious and had to be operated on for a blood clot in his head. His father was formerly a chemist at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant here and about two years ago went to work for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company in Akron. The boy's mother is the former Miss Yvette Sterne of Cumberland.
